Snowflake SnowPro Advanced: Data Analyst Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36

What is the primary benefit of connecting BI tools to Snowflake for dashboard creation?

- A. Simplified data access for all users
- B. Improved data security in dashboards

- C. BI tools restrict dashboard customization
- D. Seamless integration and data visualization

Answer: D

Explanation:

Connecting BI tools to Snowflake enables seamless integration and data visualization in dashboard creation.

NEW QUESTION # 37

How do row access policies and Dynamic Data Masking affect the creation and maintenance of reports and dashboards?

- A. Row access policies limit data visibility based on user privileges.
- B. They enhance data visibility without any restrictions.
- C. Both policies restrict data visibility for better security.
- D. Dynamic Data Masking doesn't impact dashboard creation or maintenance.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Row access policies restrict data visibility based on user privileges, ensuring better security in creation and maintenance of reports and dashboards.

NEW QUESTION # 38

You are working with a Snowflake table 'ORDERS' that contains order data in a VARIANT column named 'ORDER DETAILS'. The 'ORDER DETAILS' column contains JSON objects with nested arrays of product information, including 'product_id', 'quantity', and 'price'. You need to calculate the total revenue for each order. Which of the following SQL snippets correctly calculates the total revenue for each order using LATERAL FLATTEN and aggregation?

] '''sql SELECT o.ORDER_ID, SUM(f.value:quantity * f.value:price) AS total_revenue FROM ORDERS o, LATERAL FLATTEN(input => o.ORDER_DETAILS:products) f GROUP BY o.ORDER_ID; ''' ] '''sql SELECT o.ORDER_ID, SUM(f.value['quantity'] * f.value['price']) AS total_revenue FROM ORDERS o JOIN LATERAL FLATTEN(input => o.ORDER_DETAILS:products) f ON 1=1 GROUP BY o.ORDER_ID; ''' ] '''sql SELECT o.ORDER_ID, SUM(f.value:quantity::NUMBER * f.value:price::NUMBER) AS total_revenue FROM ORDERS o, LATERAL FLATTEN(input => o.ORDER_DETAILS:products) f GROUP BY o.ORDER_ID; ''' ] '''sql SELECT o.ORDER_ID, SUM((f.value:quantity * f.value:price)::NUMBER) AS total_revenue FROM ORDERS o CROSS JOIN LATERAL FLATTEN(input =>
o.ORDER_DETAILS:products) f GROUP BY o.ORDER_ID; ''' ] '''sql SELECT o.ORDER_ID, SUM( TO_NUMBER(f.value:quantity) * TO_NUMBER(f.value:price)) AS total_revenue FROM ORDERS o, LATERAL FLATTEN(input
=> o.ORDER_DETAILS:products) f GROUP BY o.ORDER_ID; '''

```

- A. Option E
- B. Option C
- C. Option B
- D. Option A
- E. Option D

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

Snowflake requires explicit casting to numeric datatypes when performing arithmetic operations on VARIANT data. Options A and B do not cast the 'quantity' and 'price' fields to numbers, which would result in incorrect calculations. Option E uses a deprecated 'TO_NUMBER' function.

NEW QUESTION # 39

A retail company suspects a sudden drop in sales in the 'Electronics' category. You, as a data analyst, need to perform a diagnostic analysis. Which of the following data collection strategies would be MOST effective to pinpoint the root cause, considering the limitations of Snowflake's cost optimization?

- A. Collect detailed sales data (product ID, price, discounts, region, customer segment, timestamps) for the 'Electronics' category for the last 3 months, focusing on daily and hourly trends.

- B. Extract a full data dump of all sales transactions across all categories and historical periods to identify any anomalies globally.
- C. Gather customer support tickets related to 'Electronics' purchases from the last month, focusing on complaints about product quality or delivery issues.
- D. Execute a sampling query to extract 10% of the sales data of Electronic Category and compare it with previous period data.
- E. Collect aggregated monthly sales data for the 'Electronics' category, comparing this year's figures to the previous year's.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Option A provides granular data for trend analysis, and option D brings qualitative data (support tickets) that can reveal underlying issues like product defects or shipping problems. Collecting ALL sales data (option B) is resource-intensive and inefficient for initial diagnostic analysis. Option C lacks the necessary granularity. Option E can be used to establish a baseline for comparison, but is not efficient due to sampling of data.

NEW QUESTION # 40

When performing forecasting, which factors are essential for accurate predictions? (Select all that apply)

- A. Relying solely on historical data without considering external influences
- B. Examining trends and anomalies in historical data
- C. Using basic arithmetic functions exclusively for forecasting
- D. Incorporating statistical methods for prediction accuracy

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Incorporating statistical methods and considering trends/anomalies are crucial for accurate predictions in forecasting.
