- B. Suppliers
- C. Supplier Catalogs
- D. Exception Types
- E. Users

Answer: A,B,E

Explanation:
In a Suite-Integrated SAP Ariba environment, master data elements such as Suppliers, Users, and User Group mappings are shared across sourcing and procurement modules, enabling unified access and data consistency. Supplier Catalogs and Exception Types are not typically shared master data in this context. This integration supports seamless workflows and consistent security roles, enhancing usability and governance.

NEW QUESTION # 33
While working on a customer project, the customer asks if specific details can be captured and made available in reporting for a sourcing project or contract that doesn't fit the standard fields. What is the recommended way to handle this scenario?

- A. Configure as many custom fields as possible for data capture purposes.
- B. Create a Microsoft Form from the Actions menu for managing all the requirements.
- C. Create a dynamic form (dform) where common data can be synced with the project header through customization.
- D. Suggest the customer put a Word document on the template and capture all information in that document.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The recommended approach is to configure custom fields for capturing non-standard data in sourcing projects or contracts. Custom fields allow structured data capture directly within SAP Ariba, which can then be fully included in reporting and analytics. Documents like Word files (A) are unstructured and not reportable. Dynamic forms synced with project headers (B) are not supported as standard functionality. External tools like Microsoft Forms (C) do not integrate with SAP Ariba's reporting capabilities. Custom fields can include picklists, validation rules, translations, and help tips, enabling flexible, maintainable data collection aligned with reporting and compliance needs.
