- A. Add a component responsible for starting the schedule of the dataflow.
- B. Add multiple Next steps to a component.
- C. Preview the schema in a datasource component.
- D. Use a datasource.lookup component to check if a record exists in the site.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

When editing a dataflow in SAP Customer Data Cloud, you can perform several actions to manipulate and manage data. The correct options are:

* Option A: Correct. The datasource.lookupcomponent allows you to check if a record exists in the site by querying the database or other data sources. This is useful for conditional logic in your dataflow.

* Option B: Incorrect. Adding a component to start the schedule of the dataflow is not a valid action within the dataflow editor. Scheduling is configured separately outside the dataflow editor.

* Option C: Incorrect. Adding multiple "Next steps" to a single component is not supported in SAP Customer Data Cloud's dataflow editor. Each component can only have one direct "Next step."

* Option D: Correct. You can preview the schema of a datasource component to understand the structure of the data being processed. This helps ensure that the dataflow is correctly configured.

You want to utilize SSO across domains.

What is a best practice to overcome browsers that block third-party cookies?

- A. Use an SSO segment.
- B. Use a site group and enable SSO.
- C. Use a hosted page for the parent site.
- D. Use a centralized hosted login.

Answer: D

Explanation:

To overcome browsers that block third-party cookies and enable Single Sign-On (SSO) across domains, the best practice is to use a centralized hosted login page. This approach avoids reliance on third-party cookies by centralizing the authentication process on a single domain.

* Option A: Incorrect. Using a site group and enabling SSO may still rely on third-party cookies, which modern browsers increasingly block.

* Option B: Incorrect. An SSO segment is a grouping mechanism for sites but does not address the issue of third-party cookie blocking.

* Option C: Incorrect. Using a hosted page for the parent site does not fully resolve the cross-domain SSO challenge caused by third-party cookie restrictions.

* Option D: Correct. A centralized hosted login page ensures that authentication occurs on a single domain, avoiding the need for third-party cookies and enabling seamless SSO across domains.
