NEW QUESTION # 62

Which phases of the Design Thinking process address the solution space? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Ideation
- B. Synthesis.
- C. Scoping
- D. Validation

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

The solution space in SAP Design Thinking refers to the exploration, development, and testing of potential solutions to address user needs. Here's why the correct answers are A and D:

* Ideation (A): The ideation phase focuses on generating a wide range of creative ideas and concepts to solve the problem. This is where the solution space begins to take shape as teams brainstorm possibilities. SAP emphasizes divergent thinking during this phase to explore multiple options.

* Validation (D): The validation phase involves testing prototypes with users to gather feedback and refine solutions. This ensures that the proposed solutions effectively address user needs and are feasible in real-world contexts. SAP stresses the iterative nature of validation to continuously improve the solution.

Incorrect Options:

* B. Synthesis: Synthesis focuses on analyzing research data to define the problem space, not the solution space.

* C. Scoping: Scoping involves defining the boundaries and objectives of the project, which occurs before entering the solution space.
