Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 72

Which of the following statements is the LEAST meaningful argument for this approach?

- A. Testers will be able to show test coverage directly within the graphical representation of business processes.
- B. Business process models will make it easier to detect defects in the application code.
- C. As business process models will be updated to maintain the tests, they will be a living documentation of the product.
- D. The process models will help testers to understand the use cases to be tested.

Answer: B*NEW QUESTION # 73

Which one of the following sentences describes BEST a major advantage when business analysts and testers review the acceptance criteria together?

- A. The review of acceptance criteria helps to verify that acceptance test cases cover business processes, business rules and business risks.
- B. The review of acceptance criteria is a good practice to improve the quality of test reports.
- C. A joint review ensures that non-functional quality criteria are taken into account.
- D. A shared vision between the business analyst and the tester on acceptance criteria facilitates the design of acceptance test cases.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Collaboration between business analysts and testers is essential in defining and reviewing acceptance criteria.

When both roles work together, they ensure the criteria are not only aligned with business goals but also testable and clearly specified.

Option A is correct because shared understanding of acceptance criteria allows testers to design test cases that truly validate business expectations, reducing misinterpretations and increasing confidence in the product.

Other options:

B is valid but not the best - non-functional requirements are important but often handled separately.

C is partially correct but assumes acceptance test cases already exist, whereas the review often happens earlier in the process.

D focuses on test reporting, which is downstream from criteria definition and test case design.

A). A shared vision between the business analyst and the tester on acceptance criteria facilitates the design of acceptance test cases.

NEW QUESTION # 74

Which one of the following statements describes correctly how acceptance testing may be augmented with other test techniques or approaches?

- A. In a risk-based testing approach, acceptance criteria are derived from the tester's experience and intuition.
- B. In a black-box testing approach, acceptance test scenarios follow the implemented sequence of function calls in the code.
- C. In a priority-based testing approach, prioritization of acceptance tests depends on identified product risks.
- D. In a model-based testing approach, acceptance tests are generated from graphical or textual models.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Model-Based Testing (MBT) is a test design technique in which test cases are derived from a model that describes some aspects of the system's behavior. In the context of acceptance testing, MBT can be used to generate high-level acceptance test cases automatically from business process models, use case diagrams, state models, or decision tables.

Option A is correct because MBT supports the systematic generation of acceptance test cases from these models, enabling better coverage of business rules and workflows while maintaining traceability to the requirements.

Other options:

B is close but slightly off: prioritization of acceptance tests in a priority-based approach depends on business value or stakeholder-defined priorities, not strictly on product risks.

C is incorrect. Risk-based testing relies on structured risk assessment, not just intuition or experience.

D is false. Black-box testing focuses on inputs and outputs without referencing the internal structure (such as function calls), which is characteristic of white-box testing.

Exact Reference - ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus (Section 2.3):

"Model-based testing can be used to generate acceptance test cases systematically based on models representing business processes or system behavior."
