NEW QUESTION # 358

You are a lead developer at an organization that recently integrated several Google Cloud services. These services are located within Virtual Private Cloud (VPC) environments that are secured with VPC Service Controls and Private Service Connect endpoints. Developers across your organization use different operating systems, development frameworks, and integrated development environments (IDEs). You need to recommend a developer environment that will ensure consistency in the developer process and improve the overall developer experience. You want this solution to:
- Enforce consistent security controls.
- Have access to Google Cloud resources and applications within the VPC.
- Allow the installation of custom tools and utilities on the development environments.
What solution should you recommend?

- A. Use Cloud Workstations with preconfigured base images. For custom tools and utilities, use custom images that are rebuilt weekly.
- B. Use Cloud Workstations, and allow developers to create their own custom images.
- C. Use the Cloud Code extension with the IDEs that are used across the organization. Configure Cloud VPN to enable VPC access.
- D. Use the Cloud Code extension with the IDEs that are used across the organization. Use Identity- Aware Proxy to enable access to the services in the VPC.

Answer: A
