NEW QUESTION # 41

Which user roles can view the audit logs to monitor system activity?

- A. Security Administrator and Administrator
- B. Operator, Administrator, and Backup Administrator
- C. Administrator, Backup Administrator, Restore Administrator, and User

Answer: A

Explanation:

PowerProtect Data Manager enforces strict Role-Based Access Control (RBAC) to protect the integrity of system logs and security configurations.

Audit Logs: These logs record sensitive information regarding who accessed the system, what changes were made to security settings, and when specific administrative actions occurred.

Permitted Roles: Because audit logs are a security and compliance feature, visibility is restricted.

Only the Administrator (who has full system rights) and the Security Administrator (who is responsible for managing users, certificates, and compliance) have the necessary privileges to view the Audit Logs menu.

Other Roles: Roles such as Backup Administrator or Restore Administrator are focused on operational tasks (managing policies and data recovery) and do not have the inherent rights to view the system-wide security audit trail.
