(Q374-Q379):

NEW QUESTION # 374

Which features could be used to improve the performance of queries that return a small subset of rows from a large table? (Select TWO).

- A. Multi-cluster virtual warehouses
- B. Row access policies
- C. Search optimization service
- D. Automatic clustering
- E. Secure views

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

The search optimization service and automatic clustering are features that can improve the performance of queries returning a small subset of rows from a large table. The search optimization service is designed for low-latency point lookup queries, while automatic clustering organizes data in micro-partitions based on specific dimensions to reduce the amount of data scanned during queries.

NEW QUESTION # 375

Which stage type can be altered and dropped?

- A. External stage
- B. Database stage
- C. User stage
- D. Table stage

Answer: A

Explanation:

External stages can be altered and dropped in Snowflake. An external stage points to an external location, such as an S3 bucket, where data files are stored. Users can modify the stage's definition or drop it entirely if it's no longer needed. This is in contrast to table stages, which are tied to specific tables and cannot be altered or dropped independently.

NEW QUESTION # 376

Which of the following describes how multiple Snowflake accounts in a single organization relate to various cloud providers?

- A. Each Snowflake account can be hosted in a different cloud vendor and region.
- B. All Snowflake accounts must be hosted in the same cloud vendor and region
- C. Each Snowflake account can be hosted in a different cloud vendor, but must be in the same region.
- D. Each Snowflake account must be hosted in a different cloud vendor and region

Answer: A

Explanation:

Snowflake's architecture allows for flexibility in account hosting across different cloud vendors and regions. This means that within a single organization, different Snowflake accounts can be set up in various cloud environments, such as AWS, Azure, or GCP, and in different geographical regions. This allows organizations to leverage the global infrastructure of multiple cloud providers and optimize their data storage and computing needs based on regional requirements, data sovereignty laws, and other considerations.

NEW QUESTION # 378

A JSON document is stored in the source_column of type VARIANT. The document has an array called elements. The array contains the name key that has a string value How can a Snowflake user extract the name from the first element?

- A. Source_column.element[0].name
- B. Source_column.element[1].name
- C. Source_column.element[1].name
- D. Source_column.element[0].name

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Snowflake, when dealing with semi-structured data such as a JSON document stored in a VARIANT column, the proper syntax to extract a value is to use the column name followed by the path to the specific element. Since arrays in JSON are zero-indexed, the first element is referenced with [0]. Therefore, to extract the name from the first element of the elements array, the correct syntax is Source_column.elements[0].name. References: Snowflake Documentation on Semi-Structured Data
