As a responsible AI engineer, it is crucial to mitigate this risk.

Which of the following is the most critical risk associated with the exposure of personal information in generative AI models?

- A. The model might produce content that doesn't align with the cultural preferences of the user.
- B. The model can generate outputs that are too general, failing to meet the specific needs of the user.
- C. The model can generate overly creative or non-factual responses, leading to brand reputation damage.
- D. The model can unintentionally memorize and regurgitate personal information from the training data, leading to privacy violations.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 120

You are training a generative AI model using IBM's Tuning Studio and want to optimize its performance. You aim to avoid both overfitting and underfitting by carefully selecting the appropriate number of epochs.

Which of the following strategies would best help you set the optimal number of epochs during the tuning process?

- A. Set a high number of epochs and use early stopping to determine the optimal point
- B. Gradually increase the number of epochs until the loss on the training set reaches zero
- C. Set the number of epochs equal to the size of the dataset
- D. Use a single epoch to avoid overfitting

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 121

- C. Testing the model's accuracy on a large set of random data
- D. Training the model on additional data to improve accuracy

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 122

You are optimizing a generative AI model that writes product descriptions. The cost of using the model is directly related to the number of tokens generated. To minimize token usage, you decide to introduce a stop sequence in your prompt that signals the model to end its generation early when the description reaches a certain length. Given the following prompt:

"Write a product description for [Product Name]. The description should include the main features and benefits of the product in no more than 50 words." Which of the following stop sequences would be most effective in ensuring the generation is concise and does not exceed the desired word limit?
