NEW QUESTION # 107
What steps are required for setting up IBM Data Replication for Cloud Pak for Data?

- A. Define server, define target, define security rules
- B. Define users, define source, define target
- C. Define server, define data management rules, define security rules
- D. Define source, define target, define replication

Answer: D

Explanation:
To set up IBM Data Replication in Cloud Pak for Data, administrators must follow a sequence that begins with defining the source (such as a transactional database), then defining the target system (such as a data lake or warehouse), and finally configuring the replication process. This setup allows for near real-time data synchronization. User definitions, server setup, and data management rules are involved elsewhere in the platform but are not the essential steps for replication configuration.

Which option is supported for backing up and restoring Cloud Pak for Data on a FIPS-enabled cluster?

- A. Online backup and restore to a different cluster
- B. Online backup and restore to the same cluster
- C. Watson Backup Assistant
- D. Snap and Restore Tool

Answer: B

Explanation:
For Cloud Pak for Data deployed on a FIPS-enabled cluster, the supported method for backup and restore is the online backup and restore to the same cluster. This method ensures that the data and configuration remain compliant with FIPS encryption standards. Offline and cross-cluster restore methods are not supported under FIPS constraints due to strict requirements around key handling and encryption. The Snap and Restore Tool and Watson Backup Assistant are not applicable to this context.
