Saviynt Certified Advanced IGA Professional (Level 200) Sample Questions (Q56-Q61):

NEW QUESTION # 56

What are the different integration options available to integrate Saviynt with ServiceNow?

- A. All of the above
- B. ServiceNow as a Managed Application
- C. ServiceNow as a Request Form
- D. ServiceNow as a Ticketing System (ITSM)

Answer: A

Explanation:

Saviynt EIC provides multiple flexible integration options with ServiceNow to support different business and operational use cases. Therefore, Option D (All of the above) is correct.

ServiceNow as a Managed Application (Option A) allows Saviynt to treat ServiceNow like any other application, enabling account provisioning, deprovisioning, and access governance directly within ServiceNow using REST connectors.

ServiceNow as a Request Form (Option B) enables organizations to leverage ServiceNow's front-end portal for access requests. Users can initiate requests in ServiceNow, which are then processed and fulfilled by Saviynt, ensuring seamless user experience while maintaining governance.

ServiceNow as a Ticketing System (ITSM) (Option C) is another key integration pattern where Saviynt generates tickets (incidents, requests, or tasks) in ServiceNow for approval workflows, provisioning actions, or tracking purposes. This ensures alignment with enterprise ITSM processes.

These multiple integration models provide flexibility, allowing organizations to choose the approach that best fits their operational and governance requirements.

NEW QUESTION # 57

An EIC Administrator has a requirement to filter the list of roles based on user location, for example: A user from country A should be able to request only roles for country A. What configuration administrator can use here?

- A. SAV Role
- B. Role Configuration - > User Query
- C. Global Configuration - > Role Request Query
- D. Role cannot be filtered based on user attribute

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Saviynt EIC, the correct configuration for controlling which roles appear in the Access Request screen is the Request Roles Query / Role Request Query under Global Configuration. Saviynt's official documentation for Configuring Role Requests states that this setting is used to specify a query to control the display of roles in Access Request, meaning only roles returned by that query are shown to the requester. That is exactly the use case in this question: filtering the visible role list by a user attribute such as country or location. A query can be written so that users from Country A see only the roles mapped for Country A.

The other options are not correct in this context. SAV Role controls administrative UI permissions in Saviynt, not end-user role catalog filtering. Role Configuration - > User Query is not the standard setting used to drive request-time role visibility for this scenario. Option D is incorrect because Saviynt explicitly supports this use case through the Request Roles Query capability.

NEW QUESTION # 58

A target application exposes REST APIs and you need Saviynt to perform imports as well as provisioning and deprovisioning. Which connector approach is the most appropriate?

- A. SMTP Configuration
- B. Active Directory Connector
- C. REST Connector
- D. Dataset Configuration

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is B. REST Connector. Saviynt documentation explains that REST integration is intended for applications whose data and lifecycle actions are available through REST endpoints. It states that the REST integration enables organizations to gain visibility, manage the user lifecycle, and govern access for data available in the REST application or REST endpoint. That directly matches the question, which requires imports plus provisioning and deprovisioning for an API-driven target system. Saviynt's REST connector documentation also notes that provisioning and deprovisioning are supported when the connection is configured correctly. This makes the REST connector the standard choice when the target system does not use an out-of-the-box native connector but does provide usable REST APIs. The other options do not fit the requirement. Active Directory Connector is specific to AD use cases, SMTP Configuration is only for email delivery, and Dataset Configuration is an administrative data-structuring feature rather than an application integration method. In Saviynt Level 200 terms, when an application is API- first and lifecycle actions must be automated, the REST connector is the appropriate design decision.

NEW QUESTION # 59

What are the different features available under Role Intelligence? (Multi-Select)

- A. Entitlement Discovery
- B. Role Governance
- C. Role Mining
- D. Role-Access Mismatches

Answer: A,B,C

NEW QUESTION # 60

Which campaign type should be used when managers must review and certify access for their direct reportees?

- A. User Manager Campaign
- B. Role Owner Campaign
- C. Entitlement Owner Campaign
- D. Service Account Campaign

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. User Manager Campaign . In Saviynt, the User Manager campaign is specifically designed for manager-based certifications, where managers review and certify the access of their direct reportees. Saviynt documentation explicitly states that in a User Manager campaign, managers are responsible for reviewing and certifying the access of users who report to them. That makes this campaign type the best fit when the certification driver is the reporting hierarchy rather than entitlement ownership, role ownership, or service account ownership.

The other options represent different certification ownership models. Entitlement Owner Campaign is meant for entitlement owners, Role Owner Campaign is for role owners, and Service Account Campaign is focused on service account ownership verification and access review. Saviynt also describes campaigns as a way to automatically generate and distribute certifications to the appropriate certifiers based on the selected campaign type and ownership model. Therefore, when the requirement clearly says "managers must review direct reportees," the User Manager campaign is the correct and most aligned selection within Saviynt Level 200 scope.
