NEW QUESTION # 273

You are deploying SAP Fiori to an SAP environment on Azure.

You are configuring SAML 2.0 for an SAP Fiori instance named FPP that uses client 100 to authenticate to an Azure Active Directory (Azure AD) tenant.

Which provider name should you use to ensure that the Azure AD tenant recognizes the SAP Fiori instance?

- A. https://FPP
- B. ldap://FPP-100

- C. https://FPP100
- D. ldap://FPP

Answer: C

Explanation:

By default, the provider name is in the format <sid><client>. Azure AD expects the name in the format <protocol>://<name>. We recommend that you maintain the provider name as https://<sid><client> so you can configure multiple SAP Fiori ABAP engines in Azure AD.

Answer Area

Create a virtual network that has the same subnets as the SAP production landscape

Add a public IP address to a management server in the disaster recovery region

Shut down production virtual machines

Select Test failover from the Recovery Plans blade

Explanation:

Step 1: Create a virtual network...

We recommended that for test failover, you choose a network that's isolated from the production recovery site network specific in the Compute and Network settings for each VM. By default, when you create an Azure virtual network, it is isolated from other networks. The test network should mimic your production network:

The test network should have same number of subnets as your production network. Subnets should have the same names.

The test network should use the same IP address range.

Step 2: Add a public IP address...

Because Site Recovery does not replicate the cloud witness, we recommend that you deploy the cloud witness in the disaster recovery region.

Step 3: Shut down production virtual machines

Make sure that the primary VM is shut down when you run the test failover. Otherwise there will be two VMs with the same identity, running in the same network at the same time. This can lead to unexpected consequences.

Step 4: Select Test failover from the Recovery Plans blade
