ServiceNow Certified Implementation Specialist - Discovery Sample Questions (Q107-Q112):

NEW QUESTION # 107

Which choice best describes a horizontal discovery pattern?

- A. Port scanning tool
- B. Classifiers that execute probes
- C. Steps that execute operations
- D. Credential depot

Answer: C

Explanation:

In ServiceNow Discovery, a horizontal discovery pattern refers to the logical set of steps that the Discovery process executes to find

CI information across the network. Each step in a horizontal discovery pattern performs specific operations such as running probes, executing commands, or querying databases to gather information about the configuration items (CIs). It's about expanding the breadth of discovery across devices and applications, rather than going in-depth into a specific CI's details, which would be vertical discovery.

Classifiers, credential depots, and port scanning tools are part of the discovery process but do not describe the horizontal discovery pattern itself.

NEW QUESTION # 108

A network device has both an SSH port and an SNMP port open. Discovery tries the SSH probe first and it fails. This triggers the SNMP probe, which succeeds. Discovery uses SNMP first for subsequent discoveries on that device.

What discovery functionality allows the above to happen?

- A. Credential affinity
- B. IP service affinity
- C. MID Server affinity
- D. Classification

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 109

How does MidServer communicate with ServiceNow.

Response:

- A. Bidirectional where ServiceNow sends messages to MidServer
- B. Outbound where ServiceNow sends messages to MidServer
- C. Outbound by sending messages to ServiceNow on port 443

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 110

While discovering a new SNMP network device, which choice could cause the error 'Active, couldn't classify' to occur on a Discovery Status?

- A. SNMP credentials are incorrect.
- B. A firewall blocking the communication between the MID Server and the target device.
- C. SNMP only behavior is not configured.
- D. An SNMP Classification must be updated or created for the new device.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In ServiceNow Discovery, when encountering the error 'Active, couldn't classify' during the discovery of a new SNMP network device, it typically indicates an issue with the classification process. Classification is a crucial initial step in the Discovery process, where the system determines the type of device it is interacting with. If an SNMP Classification rule for the new device type does not exist or needs updating, Discovery will be unable to classify and thus properly discover the device. Incorrect SNMP credentials or firewall issues usually result in different types of errors, such as authentication failures or no response from the device.

NEW QUESTION # 111

How many shazzam batches are made by the Discovery Schedule for 10000 IP Addresses if the Shazzam batch size is 1000.

Response:

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: A
