Cisco Designing and Implementing Cisco Service Provider Cloud Network Infrastructure Sample Questions (Q142-Q147):

NEW QUESTION # 142

An engineer must create a new VPC and deploy several Amazon EC2 instances in AWS. Only SSH connections originating from IP address 20.20.20.20 must be allowed to reach the EC2 instances. What must be configured?

- A. Security group
- B. Resource group
- C. Access control list
- D. Web application firewall

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation

AWS Security Groups act as the primary stateful firewalls for EC2 instances.

To restrict SSH (TCP/22) to a single host (20.20.20.20/32), a Security Group must be configured with:

* Inbound rule: TCP 22

* Source: 20.20.20.20/32

ACLs operate at the subnet level but are not used for instance-specific SSH restrictions.

WAF controls HTTP/HTTPS traffic, not SSH.

Resource groups only organize cloud assets.

Thus, B is the correct solution.

NEW QUESTION # 143

Refer to the exhibit. An engineer must configure dual-homing with single active redundancy in a BGP EVPN VXLAN fabric. Which command must be run on the leaf router to complete the EVPN Ethernet segment configuration?

- A. default-gateway advertise
- B. vlan configuration 101
- C. replication-type static
- D. redundancy single-active

Answer: D

Explanation:

In a BGP EVPN VXLAN multi-homing design, Ethernet Segment Identifiers (ESIs) are used to represent a set of links from one or more leaf switches to the same downstream device (such as a CE, firewall, or aggregation switch). By default, when multiple leafs share the same ESI, the EVPN design supports all-active redundancy, where all participating leafs can forward traffic for that Ethernet segment simultaneously.

However, some use cases—like connecting to devices that do not support multipath forwarding or for strict active/standby redundancy—require single-active multi-homing. In single-active mode, only one leaf in the Ethernet segment forwards traffic at any time; the other leaf(s) act as standby and only take over if the active node fails. This behavior is explicitly controlled in the EVPN Ethernet-segment configuration.

On Cisco platforms for EVPN VXLAN fabrics, this is configured under the `l2vpn evpn ethernet-segment` stanza using the command:

l2vpn evpn ethernet-segment 1

identifier type 0 01.01.01.10.10.10.10.10.10

redundancy single-active

* `identifier type 0 ...` defines the ESI for the multi-homed connection.

* `redundancy single-active` specifies that only one leaf in that ESI is allowed to be active at a time, thus enabling dual-homing with single-active redundancy.

The other options do not relate to Ethernet-segment redundancy mode:

* B. `default-gateway advertise` is used in EVPN anycast gateway configurations to advertise the default gateway MAC/IP, not for ESI redundancy.

* C. `replication-type static` is associated with multicast or ingress replication behavior for VXLAN VTEPs, not Ethernet-segment redundancy.

* D. `vlan configuration 101` is a VLAN configuration context command and has no effect on EVPN ESI redundancy.

NEW QUESTION # 144

Automation in deploying NFV can reduce:

- A. The need for manual configuration
- B. Software-defined networking capabilities
- C. The speed of service delivery
- D. Network reliability

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 145

In high availability design, DNS is used to ensure _____.

- A. authentication

- B. compression
- C. redundancy
- D. encryption

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 146

What are the key benefits of automatic fault management in service assurance? (Select two)

- A. Reduced need for real-time monitoring
- B. Increasing manual intervention
- C. Enhanced network reliability and uptime
