NEW QUESTION # 78

An administrator detects suspicious outbound connections from a single VM that hosts a web tier component. The incident response requirement is to immediately quarantine the VM so it cannot communicate with any other workload, but still allow connectivity from a designated forensic tooling group so investigators can collect evidence. The organization uses categories for policy scope and wants a change that can be applied quickly during an incident without redesigning existing policies. Which action best meets the requirement?

- A. Create an application policy that only allows outbound traffic to forensic tools, leaving inbound traffic as allow all for faster investigation.
- B. Assign the VM to the built-in Quarantine category with the Forensic value so quarantine behavior blocks traffic except to and from forensic tools.
- C. Assign the VM to the built-in Quarantine category with the Strict value and separately create a shared service policy to allow forensic access.
- D. Create an isolation environment policy between the VM and all other categories to block traffic and manually add exceptions for forensic tools.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 79

A database server has a corrupt database after a VM was restored from a recovery point. The database VM is part of the VIP_VMS category that is protected by a Protection Policy with asynchronous schedule. After checking the state of NGT tools, an administrator is investigating the Protection Policy looking for the root cause of the database corruption. What is the most probably cause?

The administrator already uses categories to group VMs (for example, category Env=Dev) and wants a scalable approach that applies consistent throttling to all current and future Dev VMs without configuring each VM individually. Which approach best meets the requirement?

- A. Configure a storage policy with QoS throttling and associate the policy to the category used by Dev VMs.
- B. Set Storage QoS attributes on one representative Dev VM, then clone that VM so all Dev VMs inherit the QoS settings.
- C. Increase the replication factor for Dev workloads so additional copies distribute I/O and cap IOPS.
- D. Enable compression on the storage container hosting Dev VMs to reduce latency and enforce an effective IOPS limit.

Answer: A
