- D. dpnid account

NEW QUESTION # 113
Which port is used to browse AVAMARSERVER to reach the Avamar Installation Manager GUI?

NEW QUESTION # 114
A storage administrator wants to migrate from a single-node Dell Avamar server to a Avamar multi-node server. Which method of replication should be used?
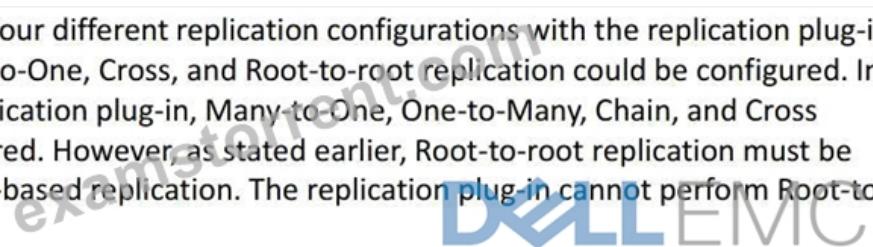

- A. Root-to-replicate
- B. Selective
- C. Root-to-root
- D. Normal

Answer: C

Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:
It is possible to configure four different replication configurations with the replication plug-in. In pre-Avamar 7.0, Many-to-One, Cross, and Root-to-root replication could be configured. In Avamar 7.0, using the replication plug-in, Many-to-One, One-to-Many, Chain, and Cross replication can be configured. However, as stated earlier, Root-to-root replication must be performed using the Cron-based replication. The replication plug-in cannot perform Root-to-root-based replication.

Best practices for replication

▸ Protect the data on the Avamar server by replicating the data to another Avamar server.

▸ Use default standard replication, also known as "root-to-REPLICATE" replication, to do the following:

 • Provide the flexibility to configure replicated Avamar servers in a wide variety of ways

 • Have full visibility into all the backups that you replicate from one Avamar server to another

Standard replication also supports the ability to replicate the contents of many replication source Avamar servers to a single large replication destination (many-to-one), or to cross-replicate the contents of a couple of Avamar servers to each other. At any time, you can browse the contents of the /REPLICATE domain on the replication destination and see all the backups that have been replicated for each account.

NEW QUESTION # 115
Which time zone is used on Dell Avamar nodes?

 • A. GMT/UTC on the utility node; local time on the storage nodes
 • B. All node types use the local time
 • C. All nodes use GMT/UTC time
 • D. Local time on the utility node; GMT/UTC on the storage nodes

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:

Timezone notes

When you select a local timezone for an Avamar server consider the following notes:

 ◆ Use a timezone that is compatible with the maintenance window, as discussed in "Maintenance window compatibility" on page 39.

 ◆ Consult the local site administrator for a timezone recommendation, as discussed in "Consult the local site administrator" on page 39.

 ◆ Check whether the timezone observes daylight savings time (DST), as discussed in "Daylight savings time considerations" on page 40.

 ◆ Where possible, avoid local timezones that ignore local DST laws, as discussed in "Avoid local timezones that ignore local DST laws" on page 40.

 ◆ Do not use GMT as the local timezone for England, as discussed in "Do not use GMT as local timezone for England" on page 40.

 ◆ Select the capital city or nearest large city for small countries, as discussed in "Select capital city or nearest large city for small countries" on page 40.

 ◆ Review the additional resources listed in "Additional timezone resources" on page 40.
