NEW QUESTION # 607

What is the purpose of a SmartEvent Correlation Unit?

- A. The Correlation unit role is to evaluate logs from the log server component to identify patterns/threats and convert them to events.
- B. The SmartEvent Correlation Unit is designed to check the availability of the SmartReporter Server.
- C. The SmartEvent Correlation Unit's task is to assign severity levels to the identified events.
- D. The SmartEvent Correlation Unit is designed to check the connection reliability from SmartConsole to the SmartEvent Server.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 608

Identity Awareness allows the Security Administrator to configure network access based on which of the following?

- A. Network location, identity of a user, and identity of a machine
- B. Browser-Based Authentication, identity of a user, and network location
- C. Identity of the machine, username, and certificate
- D. Name of the application, identity of the user, and identity of the machine

Answer: A

Explanation:

Implied rules are predefined rules that are automatically added to the Access Control rulebase by the Security Management Server. Implied rules allow the control connections that are essential for the functionality and security of the Check Point products, such as communication between the Security Gateway and the Security Management Server, synchronization between cluster members, logging, VPN, and ICMP. Implied rules are not visible in the SmartConsole, but they can be viewed and modified using the Global Properties window.

NEW QUESTION # 609

Which web services protocol is used to communicate to the Check Point R81 Identity Awareness Web API?

- A. XML-RPC
- B. SOAP
- C. XLANG
- D. REST

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

The Check Point R81 Identity Awareness Web API uses the REST web services protocol to communicate with external identity sources. REST stands for Representational State Transfer, and it is an architectural style for designing web services that use HTTP methods to access and manipulate resources. The Identity Awareness Web API allows external identity sources to send identity and session information to the Security Gateway, which can then use this information for policy enforcement.
