Drag and Drop Question

You have a Teams Phone deployment for a company. The company uses Teams Rooms on Windows. This is because the meetings' organizer is experiencing voice lag and their video does not show for all attendees.

You need to fulfill the manager's request.

Which four actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of possible actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.

□

Answer:

Explanation:

□

Explanation:

To fulfill the manager's request, you should first access the Teams Devices section in the Teams admin center. This section is the place where you can manage your company's Teams Rooms, Teams Phones, Teams Displays, Teams Panels, and Teams Session Initiation Protocol (SIP) devices.

Next, you should access the Teams Rooms on Windows subsection. This section is the place where you can view a list containing all your Teams Rooms devices that run on the Windows operating system (OS), including the device for which the manager wants to configure the settings.

You should then select Edit Settings. This action is performed after selecting the required device, where you can view a list of settings related to the device that you can monitor.

Finally, you should turn on Send logs with feedback. Turning on this option will enable the manager to view diagnostic data related to the meetings conducted on the Teams Rooms device, as required.

You should not turn on the Email address for logs and feedback. This option will enable you to receive logs via email. Nothing within the scenario mentions how the manager wants to receive logs.

You should not access the Health status field. This action is performed in the Teams Rooms on Windows subsection where you will be able to view the health status of your Teams Rooms device when selecting it. This does not meet the scenario's requirement.
