ASET Ethics Examination-ASET Professional Practice Exam (PPE) Sample Questions (Q86-Q91):

NEW QUESTION # 86

A regulated member of ASET is the manager in charge of the design and construction of a new chemical processing unit. During the course of work, the member suggests to the project contractor an alteration to the design that considerably improves safety. After the suggestion has been successfully implemented, the member is offered an expensive bottle of whiskey. Which of the following actions should the member take in this situation?

- A. Confirm with the member's employer whether the gift can be accepted.
- B. Reject the gift from the project contractor.
- C. Report the project contractor to ASET.
- D. Accept the gift from the project contractor.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Under the ASET Code of Ethics, regulated members must avoid conflicts of interest and maintain their professional independence and integrity. Accepting gifts, especially items of significant value like an expensive bottle of alcohol from a contractor, creates a strong perception of bias or favoritism, even if the gift is offered after a successful safety suggestion has already been implemented. This situation falls under the ethical obligation to act with integrity and avoid situations that could compromise, or appear to compromise, the member's professional judgment. If the manager accepts the gift, it might create an unspoken psychological obligation to favor that contractor in future bids or project decisions, which would be unethical and potentially detrimental to the employer or the public interest. While corporate gift policies vary, the safest and most ethically sound course of action for a professional technologist is to politely reject the gift, explaining that professional ethical guidelines prohibit the acceptance of personal rewards from contractors or vendors. This preserves professional boundaries and ensures objective decision-making.

NEW QUESTION # 87

A regulated member may apply for an exemption from the Continuing Professional Development program. For what length of time is the exemption effective?

- A. 2 years
- B. 1 year
- C. 3 years
- D. 6 months

Answer: B

Explanation:

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) is a mandatory component of maintaining professional competency and public trust as an ASET regulated member. However, ASET's regulatory framework recognizes that members may face extraordinary circumstances-such as severe illness, extended parental leave, or prolonged unemployment-that legitimately prevent them from fulfilling their annual CPD obligations. In such cases, members can formally apply for an exemption rather than resigning or facing administrative suspension. According to ASET's CPD guidelines, when a member applies for and is granted a CPD exemption, this exemption is strictly effective for a period of 1 year.

The one-year limit ensures that the member's status is reviewed regularly. If the extenuating circumstances persist beyond that year, the member must proactively reapply and provide updated documentation to justify extending the exemption for another year. This administrative process balances empathy for the member's personal situation with the association's legal mandate to continuously monitor and ensure the active competency of its professional roster.

NEW QUESTION # 88

What is the purpose of Canada's Copyright Act?

- A. To allow unauthorized copying
- B. To allow an individual to duplicate someone's work and pass it off as their own
- C. To allow an individual to claim credit for work that is not their own
- D. To allow the owner of a work the exclusive right to copy

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Canada, Intellectual Property (IP) is protected under various federal statutes. The specific purpose of the Canadian Copyright Act is to protect the original expression of ideas. It legally grants the creator or owner of an original literary, artistic, musical, or dramatic work (which includes engineering drawings, software code, and technical manuals) the sole and exclusive right to produce, reproduce, perform, or publish that work. This legal monopoly prevents others from stealing, unauthorized copying, or financially exploiting the creator's intellectual labor without permission or compensation.

Options A, C, and D describe acts of plagiarism, piracy, and copyright infringement-which are the exact illegal activities the Copyright Act was created to prevent and penalize. For ASET professionals, understanding copyright is crucial both for protecting their own firm's proprietary designs and for ensuring they do not illegally utilize the protected materials of other engineering firms.

NEW QUESTION # 89

Under which jurisdiction does the Environmental Protection Act fall?

- A. Municipal law
- B. Federal law
- C. Provincial law
- D. International law

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Canada, environmental regulation is a matter of shared constitutional jurisdiction, meaning both the federal and provincial governments have authority over different aspects of the environment. However, when referencing general "Environmental Protection Acts" that directly govern local industrial operations, land use, localized emissions, waste management, and resource extraction, these fall primarily under Provincial law. For example, in Alberta, the primary overarching environmental statute is the Environmental Protection and Enhancement Act (EPEA). Each province has its own equivalent Environmental Protection Act tailored to its specific regional resources and industries.

While the federal government does enforce the Canadian Environmental Protection Act (CEPA), which targets toxic substances of national concern and interprovincial/international pollution, the day-to-day regulatory compliance, site assessments, and localized environmental permitting that most ASET technologists interact with are strictly governed and enforced under provincial jurisdiction.

NEW QUESTION # 90

Which of the following must a regulated member do as part of continuing professional development?

- A. Only attend ASET-sanctioned events.
- B. Develop and maintain written records.
- C. Record professional activities only when challenged.
- D. Report all professional activities.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The ASET Continuing Professional Development (CPD) program is a mandatory requirement designed to ensure that regulated members continuously update their skills and knowledge to protect the public.

While members are required to log their CPD activities annually, a fundamental administrative requirement of the program is that members must actively develop and maintain written records (or digital logs) of their CPD activities, along with supporting documentation such as certificates of completion, receipts, or course outlines. Members are not required to report "all" professional daily activities, only those that qualify for CPD credits. Furthermore, CPD is highly flexible; members are not restricted to only attending ASET-sanctioned events and can engage in self-directed learning, mentoring, or external courses. Because ASET conducts random, mandatory audits of its members' CPD logs every year, relying on memory or only recording activities when challenged is a violation of practice standards. Maintaining accurate, verifiable written records ensures that if a member is audited, they can immediately prove their compliance with the profession's competency requirements.
