Snowflake SnowPro Core Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q71-Q76):

NEW QUESTION # 71

Which cache type is used to cache data output from SQL queries?

- A. Local file cache
- B. Result cache
- C. Metadata cache
- D. Remote cache

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Result cache is used in Snowflake to cache the data output from SQL queries. This feature is designed to improve performance by storing the results of queries for a period of time. When the same or similar query is executed again, Snowflake can retrieve the result from this cache instead of re-computing the result, which saves time and computational resources.

NEW QUESTION # 72

Which copy INTO command outputs the data into one file?

- A. MAX_FILE_NUMBER=1
- B. FILE_NUMBER=1
- C. SINGLE=TRUE
- D. MULTIPLE=FAISE

Answer: A

Explanation:

The COPY INTO command in Snowflake can be configured to output data into a single file by setting the MAX_FILE_NUMBER option to 1. This option limits the number of files generated by the command, ensuring that only one file is created regardless of the amount of data being exported.

NEW QUESTION # 73

How can an administrator check for updates (for example, SCIM API requests) sent to Snowflake by the identity provider?

- A. ACCESS_HISTORY
- B. LOAD_HISTORY
- C. REST_EVENT_HISTORY
- D. QUERY_HISTORY

Answer: C

Explanation:

To monitor updates, such as SCIM API requests sent to Snowflake by the identity provider, an administrator can use the REST EVENT HISTORY feature. This feature allows administrators to query historical data about REST API calls made to Snowflake, including those related to user and role management through SCIM (System for Cross-domain Identity Management).

The REST EVENT HISTORY table function returns information about REST API calls made over a specified period. It is particularly useful for auditing and monitoring purposes, especially when integrating Snowflake with third-party identity providers that use SCIM for automated user provisioning and deprovisioning.

An example query to check for SCIM API requests might look like this:

```
SELECT * FROM
```

```
TABLE(information_schema.rest_event_history(date_range_start=>dateadd('hours',-1,current_timestamp())) WHERE request_type = 'SCIM';
```

This query returns details on SCIM API requests made in the last hour, including the request type, the identity provider's details, and the outcome of each request.

NEW QUESTION # 74

What are characteristics of reader accounts in Snowflake? (Select TWO).

- A. Data consumers are responsible for reader account setup and data usage costs.
- B. Reader accounts enable data consumers to access and query data shared by the provider.
- C. Reader account users can share data to other reader accounts.
- D. Reader account users cannot add new data to the account.
- E. A single reader account can consume data from multiple provider accounts.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Characteristics of reader accounts in Snowflake include:

* A. Reader account users cannot add new data to the account: Reader accounts are intended for data consumption only. Users of these accounts can query and analyze the data shared with them but cannot upload or add new data to the account.

* E. Reader accounts enable data consumers to access and query data shared by the provider: One of the primary purposes of reader accounts is to allow data consumers to access and perform queries on the data shared by another Snowflake account, facilitating secure and controlled data sharing.
