Cisco Securing Networks with Cisco Firepower Sample Questions (Q189-Q194):

NEW QUESTION # 189

An engineer is troubleshooting an intermittent connectivity issue on a Cisco Secure Firewall Threat Defense appliance and must collect 24 hours' worth of data. The engineer started a packet capture, however it stops prematurely during this time period. The engineer notices that the packet capture buffer size is set to the default of 32 MB. Which buffer size is the maximum that the engineer must set to enable the packet capture to run successfully?

- A. 64 MB
- B. 1 GB
- C. 10 GB
- D. 100 GB

Answer: C

Explanation:

This allows you to capture much more many packets in the capture buffer. Additionally, you can increase the size of the capture buffer (by default is 500Kbytes) to a value up 32 Mbytes (buffer option). Finally, as from FTD version 6.3, the file-size option allows you to configure a capture file up to 10GBytes.

NEW QUESTION # 192

A network engineer is deploying a Cisco Firepower 4100 appliance and must configure a multi-instance environment for high availability. Drag and drop me actions from the left into sequence on the right for this configuration.

Answer:

Explanation:

□ Explanation:

The correct sequence of actions for configuring a multi-instance environment for high availability on a Cisco Firepower 4100 appliance is as follows:

* Add a resource profile for container instances. A resource profile defines the CPU, RAM, and disk space allocation for each container instance. You can create multiple resource profiles with different resource settings and assign them to different container instances1.

* Add a MAC pool prefix and view the MAC address for the container instance interfaces. A MAC pool prefix is a 24-bit prefix that is used to generate MAC addresses for the container instance interfaces.

You can specify a custom MAC pool prefix or use the default one. You can also view the MAC addresses that are assigned to each container instance interface1.

* Configure interfaces. You need to configure the physical interfaces, EtherChannels, and VLAN subinterfaces that will be used by the container instances. You can also configure shared interfaces that can be used by multiple container instances on the same security module/engine1.

* Add a Standalone Firepower Threat Defense for Cisco Secure Firewall Management Center. You need to add a logical device that runs a standalone Firepower ThreatDefense (FTD) application instance and register it with the Cisco Secure Firewall Management Center (FMC). This logical device will act as the management interface for the container instances.

* Add a high-availability pair. You need to add another logical device that runs a standalone FTD application instance and register it with the FMC as well. Then, you need to configure high availability (HA) between the two standalone FTD logical devices. This will enable HA for the container instances that are associated with them.

NEW QUESTION # 193

An engineer is configuring a Cisco FTD appliance in IPS-only mode and needs to utilize fail-to-wire interfaces. Which interface mode should be used to meet these requirements?

- A. transparent
- B. inline set
- C. passive
- D. routed

Answer: B
