Avaya Aura Communication Applications Implement Sample Questions (Q69-Q74):

NEW QUESTION # 69

To allow communications between the Avaya Aura Device Services (AADS) and the Avaya Aura Web Gateway (AAWG), which three configuration steps are required? (Choose three.)

- A. The AADS FQDN needs to be configured as a Trusted Host on the AAWG.
- B. The AADS FQDN, Client interface port and Server-to-server interface port needs to be configured on the AAWG.
- C. On the AAWG, the Server-to-server interface port needs to be opened using a shell script.

- D. The AAWG FQDN needs to be configured as a Trusted Host on the AADS.
- E. On the AADS, the Server-to-server interface port needs to be opened using a shell script.

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

To establish a secure, trusted relationship between the AADS and the AAWG, these components must mutually identify one another and exchange configuration information.

Trusted Hosts (A & B): Because these components communicate over TLS/HTTPS, security is paramount. Configuring each server's FQDN as a "Trusted Host" on the other ensures that they will accept incoming API requests, certificate exchanges, and signaling traffic from the designated partner. This prevents unauthorized servers from impersonating the gateway or the device service.

AAWG Configuration (C): The AAWG needs to know where to find the AADS to fetch information and route requests. By configuring the AADS FQDN, the client-facing port, and the internal server-to-server port on the AAWG, you ensure the gateway has the necessary network path parameters to successfully query the AADS for user data, configuration files, and presence/status information.

NEW QUESTION # 70

How many Server Flows and/or Subscriber Flows are required for SIP Trunking?

- A. one Subscriber Flow and two Server Flows
- B. one Subscriber Flow and one Server Flow
- C. a minimum of two Server Flows
- D. a minimum of two Subscriber Flows

Answer: A

Explanation:

Two types of flows need to be defined for the proper routing of SIP messages from and to the endpoints and the SIP server.

Example, Server Flows:

Session Border Controller for Enterprise

AVAYA

The screenshot shows the Avaya Session Border Controller for Enterprise (ASBCE) web interface. The left sidebar contains a menu with 'End Point Flows' highlighted. The main content area shows the 'End Point Flows: SBC13a' configuration page. The 'Server Flows' tab is selected, displaying a table of server configurations. The table has columns for Priority, Flow Name, URI Group, Received Interface, Signaling Interface, End Point Policy Group, and Routing Profile. Two rows are visible: one for 'SMtoRU' and one for 'SM'.

| Priority | Flow Name | URI Group | Received Interface | Signaling Interface | End Point Policy Group | Routing Profile | | | |
|----------|-----------|-----------|--------------------|---------------------|------------------------|-----------------|------|-------|------|
| 1 | SMtoRU | * | sig-ru-external | sig-ru-internal | SM | default | View | Clone | Edit |
| 2 | SM | * | sig-external | sig-internal | SM | toSIPTrunk | View | Clone | Edit |

NEW QUESTION # 71

You are obtaining identity certificates and encryption keys from a Certificate Authority (CA) for installation on the Avaya Session Border Controller for Enterprise (ASBCE).

Which statement about installing the identity certificate and encryption key files on the ASBCE is true?

- A. It must be rebooted before the identity certificate and the encryption key installation.
- B. The filenames of the identity certificate (.pem or .cert file) and the encryption key (.key file) must match.
- C. Both the identity certificate and the encryption key files must be provided in a .zip archive for the installation on the ASBCE.

- D. The filename of the identity certificate (.pem or .crt file) must be different from the filename of the encryption key (.key file).

Answer: B

Explanation:

When installing identity certificates on the Avaya Session Border Controller for Enterprise (ASBCE), the system requires a specific naming convention to correctly associate the certificate with its corresponding private key.

Matching Filenames: The ASBCE expects the identity certificate file and the associated private key file to have the exact same base filename (e.g., sbc_identity.crt and sbc_identity.key). This allows the ASBCE certificate management utility to automatically identify them as a single pair during the installation process in the web interface.

Pairing Logic: By maintaining this naming convention, the system ensures that the private key is correctly linked to the public certificate, which is necessary for establishing valid TLS sessions.
