Scrum Professional Scrum Master I Sample Questions (Q88-Q93):

NEW QUESTION # 88
What are two good ways for the Development Team to make non-functional requirements visible? (Choose two.)

- A. Put them on a separate list on the Scrum board, available for all to see.
- B. Run the integration and regression tests before the end of the Sprint, and capture the open work for the Sprint Backlog of the next Sprint.
- C. Add them to the definition of "Done" so the work is taken care of every Sprint.
- D. Add them to the Product Backlog and keep the Product Owner posted on the expected effort.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
The correct answers are B and D, because adding non-functional requirements to the Product Backlog and keeping the Product Owner posted on the expected effort helps prioritize and plan them in alignment with the product vision and goals. Additionally, adding non-functional requirements to the definition of 'Done' ensures that they are met every Sprint and do not accumulate technical debt.

NEW QUESTION # 89
Multiple Scrum Teams working on the same product or system all select work from the same Product Backlog.

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: A

Explanation:
According to the Scrum Guide1, when multiple Scrum Teams are working together on one product, they must coordinate their work with each other. One way to do this is through Nexus, a framework for scaling Scrum. Nexus helps to reduce cross-team dependencies and integration issues by making them more transparent. Multiple Scrum Teams working on one product use one Product Backlog.

NEW QUESTION # 90
During a Sprint, when is new work or further decomposition of work added to the Sprint Backlog?

- A. When the Product Owner identifies new work.
- B. When the Scrum Master has time to enter them.
- C. As soon as possible after they are identified.
- D. During the Daily Scrum after the Development Team approves them.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 91
The Product Backlog is ordered by:

- A. The Product Owner with the most valuable items placed at the top.
- B. Size, where small items ale at the top and large items are at the bottom.
- C. Items are randomly arranged.
- D. Risk, where safer items are at the top, and riskier items are at the bottom.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Product Backlog is ordered by the Product Owner with the most valuable items placed at the top, as stated in [6]: "The Product Owner is responsible for ordering items on their product backlog based on their value to customers and users. Value can be measured by various factors, such as business value, customer satisfaction, risk reduction, learning opportunities, etc. The most valuable items are placed at the top of the product backlog so that they can be delivered sooner by the development team."

NEW QUESTION # 92
A Scrum Team has been working on a product for nine Sprints. A new Product Owner comes in, understanding he is accountable for the Product Backlog. However, he is unsure about his responsibilities. Which two activities are part of the Product Owner role according to Scrum? (Choose two.)

- A. Interacting with stakeholders.
- B. Providing the Development Team with detailed specifications.
- C. Describing features as Use Cases.
- D. Ensuring that the most valuable functionality is produced first, at all times.
- E. Creating detailed functional test cases.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:
The Product Owner is responsible for ensuring that the most valuable functionality is produced first, at all times, by ordering and prioritizing the Product Backlog. The Product Owner also interacts with stakeholders to understand their needs and expectations, and to communicate the vision and progress of the product. The other options are not part of the Product Owner role according to Scrum, as they are either too prescriptive or too technical.
