NEW QUESTION # 35

You are developing an app that will be published to Microsoft AppSource.

The app requires code analyzers to enforce some rules. You plan to add the analyzers to the settings.json file.

You need to activate the analyzers for the project.

Which three code analyzers should you activate to develop the app for AppSource? Each correct answer presents part of the solution NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. CodeCop
- B. PerTenantExtensionCop
- C. a custom rule set
- D. AppSourceCop
- E. UICop

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

When developing an app for Microsoft AppSource, it is crucial to adhere to specific guidelines and standards to ensure compatibility and compliance. The three code analyzers you should activate are:

CodeCop (A): This is the default analyzer for AL language extensions. It enforces the AL Coding Guidelines, ensuring that the code follows best practices for readability, maintainability, and performance. It checks for a wide range of issues, from syntax errors to best practice violations, making it essential for any AL development.

PerTenantExtensionCop (D): This analyzer is specifically designed for extensions that are intended to be installed for individual tenants. It includes rules that ensure the extension does not interfere with the per-tenant customizations and adheres to the guidelines for extensions that can be safely installed and uninstalled without affecting the underlying application.

AppSourceCop (E): This analyzer is tailored for extensions that are intended for publication on Microsoft AppSource. It enforces additional rules that are specific to AppSource submissions, such as checking for the use of reserved object ranges and ensuring that all prerequisite dependencies are correctly declared. This is crucial for ensuring that your app meets all the requirements for listing on AppSource.

By activating these three analyzers, developers can ensure their app adheres to the standards required for AppSource, as well as maintain high code quality and compatibility with Business Central.
