Microsoft Designing and Implementing a Microsoft Azure AI Solution Sample Questions (Q194-Q199):

NEW QUESTION # 194

You have a product support manual.

You need to build a product support chatbot based on the manual. The solution must minimize development effort and costs.

What should you use?

- A. Azure AI Document intelligence
- B. Azure AI Phi-3-medium with fine-tuning
- C. Azure OpenAI GPT-4 with grounding data that uses Azure AI Search
- D. Azure AI Language Custom question answering

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 195

You have an Azure AI Search instance that indexes purchase orders by using Azure AI Document Intelligence.

You need to analyze the extracted information by using Microsoft Power BI. The solution must minimize development effort.

What should you add to the indexer?

- A. a file projection
- B. an object projection
- C. a table projection
- D. a projection group

Answer: C

Explanation:

Use Power BI for data exploration. This tool works best when the data is in Azure Table Storage.

Within Power BI, you can manipulate data into new tables that are easier to query and analyze.

Table projections are recommended for scenarios that call for data exploration, such as analysis with Power BI or workloads that consume data frames.

NEW QUESTION # 196

You are building a Conversational Language Understanding model.

You need to ensure that the model will support the following sample utterances:

- Set all the lights to on.
- Turn off the lights in the living room.
- What is the current thermostat temperature?
- Lower the temperature of the thermostat by five degrees.

Which three elements should you add to the model?

Each correct answer presents part of the solution. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. a device entity
- B. a change setting intent
- C. a query setting intent
- D. a change setting entity
- E. a device intent
- F. a location Intent

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

To ensure the model supports the given utterances, you need to define the correct intents (actions the user wants to perform) and entities (objects or variables involved in the action).

Change setting intent: This intent will handle commands like "Set all the lights to on" and "Lower the temperature of the thermostat by five degrees." These utterances are focused on changing a device's settings.

Device entity: This entity is necessary to recognize the type of device being controlled, such as "lights" or "thermostat."

Query setting intent: This intent will handle queries like "What is the current thermostat temperature?" since it involves querying the state of a device.

NEW QUESTION # 197

You need to recommend a non-relational data store that is optimized for storing and retrieving text files, videos, audio streams, and virtual disk images. The data store must store data, some metadata, and a unique ID for each file. Which type of data store should you recommend?

- A. document
- B. object
- C. key/value
- D. columnar

Answer: B

Explanation:

The scenario involves storing text files, videos, audio streams, and virtual disk images, along with metadata and a unique ID. This exactly matches Object storage characteristics:

- * Stores large amounts of unstructured data (blobs).
- * Each object contains the data itself, metadata, and a unique identifier.
- * Azure Blob Storage is Microsoft's object storage solution.

Other options:

- * Columnar # Used for analytics workloads, optimized for reading columns (e.g., data warehouses).
- * Key/Value # Good for simple lookups but not optimized for storing large multimedia files.
- * Document # Stores semi-structured JSON documents, not large binary objects.

Thus, the correct answer is Object storage.
