Splunk Enterprise Certified Admin Sample Questions (Q13-Q18):

NEW QUESTION # 13

Consider the following stanza in `inputs.conf`:

What will the value of the source field be for events generated by this script's input?

- A. `liscer`
- B. `liscer.sh`
- C. `./opt/splunk/ecc/apps/search/bin/liscer.sh`

- D. unknown

Answer: C

-Scroll down to source = <string>

*Default: the input file path

NEW QUESTION # 14

There is a file with a vast amount of old data. Which of the following inputs.conf attributes would allow an admin to monitor the file for updates without indexing the pre-existing data?

- A. followTail
- B. monitor
- C. allowList
- D. IgnoreOlderThan

Answer: A

Explanation:

* IgnoreOlderThan: This setting filters files for indexing based on their age. It does not prevent indexing of old data already in the file.

* allowList: This setting allows specifying patterns to include files for monitoring, but it does not control indexing of pre-existing data.

* monitor: This is the default method for monitoring files but does not address indexing pre-existing data.

* followTail: This attribute, when set in inputs.conf, ensures that Splunk starts reading a file from the end (tail) and does not index existing old data. It is ideal for scenarios with large files where only new updates are relevant.

NEW QUESTION # 15

Immediately after installation, what will a Universal Forwarder do first?

- A. Begin generating internal Splunk logs.
- B. Automatically detect any indexers in its subnet and begin routing data.
- C. Begin reading local files on its server.
- D. Send an email to the operator that the installation process has completed.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Immediately after installation, a universal forwarder will start generating internal Splunk logs that contain information about its own operation, such as configuration changes, data inputs, and forwarding activities¹. These logs are stored in the $SPLUNK_HOME/var/log/splunk directory on the universal forwarder machine¹. The universal forwarder will not automatically detect any indexers in its subnet and begin routing data, as it needs to be configured with the IP address and port number of the indexer or the deployment server². The universal forwarder will not begin reading local files on its server, as it needs to be configured with the data inputs that specify which files or directories to monitor². The universal forwarder will not send an email to the operator that the installation process has completed, as this is not a default behavior of the universal forwarder and would require additional configuration³.
