- B. Notifications can contain multiple events.
- C. Notifications are sent in a synchronous way.
- D. Custom data fields can be added to the payload.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

* A. Notifications can contain multiple events: Webhook notifications can include multiple events in a single payload, allowing for efficient batch processing of related events.

* C. Custom data fields can be added to the payload: SAP Customer Data Cloud allows you to configure webhooks to include custom data fields in the notification payload, enabling flexibility in data transfer.

The other options are incorrect:

* B. Events are ordered per UID: While events may be grouped by UID, there is no guarantee of strict ordering within the payload. Event ordering must be handled externally if required.

* D. Notifications are sent in a synchronous way: Webhook notifications are sent asynchronously, meaning the sender does not wait for the recipient to process the notification before continuing.
