CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q413-Q418):

NEW QUESTION # 413

A security administrator teaches all of an organization's staff members to use BitLocker To Go. Which of the following best describes the reason for this training?

- A. To configure all laptops to use the TPM as an encryption factor for hard drives
- B. To enable Secure Boot and a BIOS-level password to prevent configuration changes
- C. To ensure that all removable media is password protected in case of loss or theft

- D. To enforce VPN connectivity to be encrypted by hardware modules

Answer: C

Explanation:

Detailed Explanation with Core 2 References: BitLocker To Go is a feature in Windows that allows for encryption of removable drives to protect sensitive information. Training staff on BitLocker To Go ensures that if a removable drive is lost or stolen, it will be password-protected and encrypted, making the data inaccessible to unauthorized individuals. This aligns with Core 2 objectives related to security measures for data-at-rest encryption and best practices for safeguarding information (CompTIA A+ Core 2 Objective 2.6).

NEW QUESTION # 414

A company's assets are scanned annually. Which of the following will most likely help the company gain a holistic view of asset cost?

- A. Assigning users to assets
- B. Inventorying asset tags
- C. Creating a database
- D. Updating the procurement account owners

Answer: C

Explanation:

Creating a database is the most likely option to help the company gain a holistic view of asset cost. A database can store and organize information about the assets, such as purchase date, depreciation value, maintenance cost, warranty status, and replacement cost. Assigning users to assets, inventorying asset tags, and updating the procurement account owners are important steps for asset management, but they do not directly provide a holistic view of asset cost. #### NEW QUESTION # 415

A user receives a notification indicating the data plan on the user's corporate phone has reached its limit. The user has also noted the performance of the phone is abnormally slow. A technician discovers a third-party GPS application was installed on the phone. Which of the following is the MOST likely cause?

- A. The GPS application contains malware.
- B. The GPS application is updating its geospatial map data.
- C. The GPS application is conflicting with the built-in GPS.
- D. The GPS application is installing software updates.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The GPS application contains malware. The third-party GPS application is likely the cause of the slow performance of the phone. The application may contain malware that is using up system resources and slowing down the phone. The user should uninstall the application and run a malware scan on the phone.

NEW QUESTION # 416

A user receives the following error while attempting to boot a computer.

BOOTMGR is missing

press Ctrl+Alt+Del to restart

Which of the following should a desktop engineer attempt FIRST to address this issue?

- A. Repair Windows.
- B. Partition the hard disk.
- C. Reimage the workstation.
- D. Roll back the updates.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The error "BOOTMGR is missing" indicates that the boot sector is damaged or missing<sup>1</sup>. The boot sector is a part of the hard disk that contains the code and information needed to start Windows<sup>1</sup>. To fix this error, one of the possible methods is to run Startup Repair from Windows Recovery Environment (WinRE)<sup>1</sup>. Startup Repair is a tool that can automatically diagnose and repair problems with the boot process<sup>2</sup>.

NEW QUESTION # 417

A technician cannot uninstall a system driver because the driver is currently in use. Which of the following tools should the technician use to help uninstall the driver?

- A. msconfig.exe
- B. regedit.exe
- C. dxdiag.exe
- D. msinfo32.exe

Answer: A

Explanation:

The msconfig.exe tool, also known as the System Configuration utility, is a tool that allows users to modify various system settings, such as startup options, services, boot options, and more. One of the features of msconfig.exe is the ability to disable or enable device drivers that are loaded during the system startup. By using msconfig.exe, a technician can prevent a driver from being loaded and used by the system, which will allow them to uninstall it without any errors. To use msconfig.exe to disable a driver, the technician can follow these steps:

Open the Run dialog box by pressing the Windows key + R.

Type msconfig.exe and press Enter.

Click on the Boot tab and then click on Advanced options.

Check the box next to No GUI boot and click OK. This will prevent the graphical user interface from loading during the boot process, which will also prevent some drivers from loading.

Click on the Services tab and check the box next to Hide all Microsoft services. This will show only the third-party services and drivers that are running on the system.

Find the service or driver that corresponds to the device that the technician wants to uninstall and uncheck the box next to it. This will disable the service or driver from starting during the system startup.

Click Apply and OK and then restart the computer.

After the computer restarts, the technician can use the Device Manager or the Control Panel to uninstall the driver that was previously in use.
