ServiceNow Certified Application Developer-ServiceNow Sample Questions (Q123-Q128):

NEW QUESTION # 123
How is access to Application Menus and Modules controlled?

- A. Access Controls
- B. Application Rules
- C. Roles
- D. Client Scripts

Answer: C

Explanation:
Roles are used to control access to applications and modules in the application navigator. Each application menu or module has a role field that specifies which role is required to view it. Users who do not have the specified role or a role that contains it will not see the application menu or module. Roles can also be used to control access to other features and capabilities in ServiceNow, such as tables, fields, scripts, and workflows.
References = Enable or disable an application menu or module, Grant a role access to applications and modules, Controlling access to applications and modules.

NEW QUESTION # 124
When working in the Form Designer, configuring the label of a field in a child table changes the label on which table(s)?

- A. base table
- B. all tables
- C. child table
- D. parent table

Answer: C

Explanation:
Configuring the label of a field in a child table changes the label only on that table, not on the base table or the parent table. The base table is the table that contains the common fields for all the extended tables, and the parent table is the table that is directly extended by the child table. The label of a field on the base table or the parent table can be different from the label on the child table.

What syntax is used in a Record Producer script to access values from Record Producer form fields?

- A. current.variable_name
- B. current.field_name
- C. producer.field_name
- D. producer.variablename

Answer: D

Explanation:
The syntax used in a Record Producer script to access values from Record Producer form fields is producer.
variable_name. A Record Producer is a type of catalog item that allows users to create records on any table from the service catalog. A Record Producer script is a server-side script that runs when a Record Producer is submitted, and can be used to set values or perform actions on the generated record. The producer object is a global object that represents the Record Producer form and its variables. The variable_name is the name of the variable defined in the Record Producer.
