NEW QUESTION # 81
Swarming ants and termites are similar, but the termite:

- A. Has bent antennae
- B. Has a narrow waist
- C. Does not have a waist

Answer: C

Explanation:
Swarming termites and ants can be distinguished by physical characteristics. Termites do not have a waist, as their body is broad and straight, while ants have a narrow, pinched waist. Additionally, termites have straight antennae, whereas ants have bent (elbowed) antennae. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 7: Termites vs. Ants) highlights these differences. Option A (bent antennae) applies to ants, not termites. Option C (narrow waist) also describes ants, not termites.

NEW QUESTION # 82
The application records for general and household pesticide use must be kept for a minimum of:

- A. Two years
- B. Five years
- C. Three years

Answer: C

Explanation:
NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-6.8) require commercial pesticide applicators to maintain application records for a minimum of three years. These records must include details like the date, location, pesticide used, amount applied, and target pest. This applies to Category 7A applications for general and household pest control. Option A (five years) is incorrect, though some states may have longer requirements. Option C (two years) is too short for New Jersey standards.

NEW QUESTION # 83
Which answer best completes the following statement?
At multi-family residences, if the specific date of application is requested by ___ it must be given.

- A. OPRA
- B. Tenants and/or the contracting party
- C. The contracting party only

Answer: B

Explanation:
NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-9.13) require that the specific date of pesticide application at multi- family residences be provided if requested by tenants and/or the contracting party (e.g., property manager). This ensures transparency for those directly affected by the application. Option A (contracting party only) is too restrictive, as tenants have a right to know. Option C (OPRA) refers to the Open Public Records Act, which is not relevant to this specific notification requirement.

NEW QUESTION # 84
The transfer of Lyme disease to humans can occur from the:

- A. Nymph or adult stage
- B. Nymph stage only
- C. Adult stage only

Answer: A

Explanation:
Lyme disease is transmitted by the blacklegged tick, and both the nymph and adult stages can transfer the disease to humans if infected with the bacterium Borrelia burgdorferi. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 7: Ticks) notes that nymphs are more likely to transmit due to their small size and longer feeding time, but adults can also transmit.
Option A (nymph only) and Option C (adult only) are incorrect, as both stages are capable.

NEW QUESTION # 85
The most frequently reported vector-borne illness is:

- A. Tick Paralysis
- B. Lyme Disease
- C. Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever

Answer: B

Explanation:
Lyme Disease is the most frequently reported vector-borne illness in the U.S., including New Jersey, transmitted by the blacklegged tick. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators
- Category 7A(Chapter 7: Ticks) highlights its prevalence, with thousands of cases reported annually.
Option A (Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever) is less common. Option B (Tick Paralysis) is rare and not a disease but a condition caused by tick bites.
