- A. The Decision result to select the appropriate connector.
- B. The work item that the system cannot find.
- C. The operator to inform and the Assignment type.
- D. The appropriate shape to advance in the flow.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 60

ABC is an internet service provider that uses a Complaint application to track customer issues. Once a customer complaint is resolved, the application captures the customer's satisfaction in a range of 0-100. Now, the Application Manager wants to assign each Complaint case to a category depending on the feedback range.

The manager uses the grouped data in a trend report to show how many Complaint cases are in each category at various points on a timeline.

The manager wants to use the following categories: 0-25 - Not Happy 26-50 - Okay 51-70 - Happy 71-90 - Very Happy 91-100 - Delighted.

What is the recommended approach to achieving this functionality?

- A. Use subreports to categorize the results.
- B. Use class joins to categorize the results.
- C. Use aggregate functions to categorize the results.
- D. Use custom SQLs in the report definition to categorize the results.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 61

Consider a scenario where an e-commerce company is using a Job Scheduler to manage various tasks. The Job Scheduler is responsible for updating inventory, processing orders, sending order confirmation emails, and generating daily sales reports. Which two of the following are typical features of a Job Scheduler?

(Choose Two)

- A. It can run tasks in a specific order.

- B. It can run tasks in parallel.
- C. It can automatically retry failed tasks.
- D. It can automatically commit the data updates.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Pega's Job Scheduler is a server-side component designed to execute recurring tasks at specified intervals, as described in Pega Academy's Lead System Architect Mission and the Pega Certified Lead System Architect Study Guide. It supports automation and scalability for background processes, making it ideal for tasks like inventory updates or report generation.

* Option A (Correct): Job Schedulers can automatically retry failed tasks, configurable through retry policies in the Job Scheduler rule. This ensures reliability for critical tasks, as documented in the Job Scheduler section of Pega Community.

* Option B (Incorrect): Job Schedulers do not inherently run tasks in a specific order unless explicitly configured with dependencies, which is not a default feature. Tasks are scheduled independently based on their recurrence settings, per the Asynchronous Processing module.

* Option C (Incorrect): Job Schedulers do not automatically commit data updates. Committing updates depends on the activities or processes within the scheduled task, and Pega requires explicit commit actions (e.g., Obj-Save), as noted in the Data Management guidelines.

* Option D (Correct): Job Schedulers can run tasks in parallel across multiple nodes, leveraging Pega's distributed processing capabilities. This is particularly useful for high-volume tasks like order processing, as outlined in the Job Scheduler Configuration module.

Pega Academy: Lead System Architect Mission (covers Job Scheduler features).

Pega Community: Job Scheduler (details on retry and parallel execution).

Pega Certified Lead System Architect Study Guide (v23): Section on Work Delegation and Asynchronous Processing (emphasizes Job Scheduler capabilities).
