IIBA Certification of Capability in Business Analysis (CCBA) Sample Questions (Q537-Q542):

NEW QUESTION # 537

A business analyst (BA) is working on a data-centric IT project. The business stakeholders develop the content but do not understand the technical aspects, while the IT team believes that there is no need to understand the business issues. Which deliverable will facilitate understanding between IT and the business stakeholders?

- A. Non-functional requirements
- B. Data dictionary
- C. Data models
- D. Transition requirements

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed A data model provides a visual representation of how data is structured, processed, and flows between business and IT systems, bridging the gap between stakeholders.

BABOK Guide (Chapter 10.12 - Data Modeling) explains that data models clarify business data structures, helping both business and technical teams align their understanding.

Transition requirements (Option A) define short-term requirements for system migration but do not facilitate communication.

Data dictionaries (Option C) list data definitions but do not provide relationships and context.

Non-functional requirements (Option D) define system constraints but do not clarify business-IT interactions.

NEW QUESTION # 538

You need to identify assumptions as part of the assessment of capability gaps. Which of the following is an example of an assumption?

- A. The risk in the project must be quantified.
- B. The software must be compatible with the current operating system.
- C. All vendors must have security clearance.
- D. The project manager believes that her project team members can program in COBOL.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

Of all the choices, the belief about the project team members is the best example of an assumption. An assumption is something that is believed to be true, but it has not been proven to be true.

Answer B is incorrect. This is an example of a constraint.

Answer D is incorrect. This is an example of a requirement.

Answer C is incorrect. This is an enterprise environmental factor, which could also be seen as a requirement.

NEW QUESTION # 539

The business analyst (BA) assigned to support a legacy system has developed a customer survey to assess its usability. Before distributing the survey, what should the BA do?

- A. Update the project plan to include the survey
- B. Validate the survey with the project sponsor
- C. Review the risk register with the project sponsor
- D. Observe customer interaction with the system

Answer: D

Explanation:

The business analyst (BA) should observe customer interaction with the system before distributing the survey to assess its usability. According to the BABOK Guide, observation is "a technique used to elicit information by viewing and understanding activities and their context" 4. By observing the customer interaction with the system, the BA can gain insights into the actual usage, behavior, problems, and preferences of the customers, which can help the BA design a more effective and relevant survey. Validating the survey with the project sponsor, reviewing the risk register with the project sponsor, and updating the project plan to include the survey are important steps, but they should be done after observing the customer interaction with the system. NEW QUESTION # 540

Consider a business analyst who is completing the business analysis tasks of specifying and modeling requirements for an organization. This task can help an organization achieve all of the following objectives except for which one?

- A. Facilitating communication among stakeholders
- B. Increasing revenue and/or reducing costs within an organization
- C. Compliance with contracts and regulations
- D. Supporting training activities and knowledge management

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

The task of specifying and modeling requirements does not ensure that revenues will increase or that costs will be reduced. However, the task does allow for some insight into operational improvements.

C is incorrect. The task of specifying and modeling requirements does help with compliance to contracts and regulations.

B is incorrect. The task of specifying and modeling requirements does help the stakeholders communicate better.

A is incorrect. The task of specifying and modeling requirements can help with training and knowledge management.

NEW QUESTION # 541

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) is concerned about how two client bases are going to be integrated and serviced in the newly formed company after a merger. A project has been initiated to implement a Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system for the new company that will contain the client information from both companies. What must the business analyst (BA) do to address the concerns of the CEO?

- A. Reuse requirements models from each company
- B. Demonstrate the functionality of the new CRM
- C. Ensure all regulatory requirements are documented
- D. Create merged viewpoints of the requirements

Answer: D
