- A. Control Plane
- B. Firewall
- C. APIs
- D. API Gateway

Answer: C

Explanation:

Application Programming Interfaces allow for programmatic management of the cloud. They are the glue that holds the cloud's components together and enables their orchestration. Since not everyone wants to write programs to manage their cloud, web

NEW QUESTION # 128

What does orchestration automate within a cloud environment?

- A. Manual configuration of security policies
- B. Monitoring application performance
- C. Provisioning of VMs, networking and other resources
- D. Installation of operating systems

Answer: C

Explanation:

In a cloud environment, orchestration automates the provisioning and management of various cloud resources, including virtual machines (VMs), networking, storage, and other infrastructure components. Cloud orchestration involves the use of software to coordinate and automate tasks that would otherwise require manual intervention, improving efficiency, scalability, and consistency across the environment.

Monitoring application performance is typically handled by monitoring tools, not orchestration. Manual configuration of security policies is something that can be automated through policy management but is not the focus of orchestration. Installation of operating systems is part of provisioning resources, but orchestration primarily focuses on automating the overall management of infrastructure and services, not just the installation of operating systems.

NEW QUESTION # 129

What is the primary role of Identity and Access Management (IAM)?

- A. Ensure only authorized entities access resources
- B. Ensure all users have the same level of access
- C. To monitor and log all user activities and traffic
- D. To encrypt data at rest and in transit

Answer: A

Explanation:

The primary role of Identity and Access Management (IAM) is to control and manage who has access to cloud resources and ensure that only authorized users, systems, or entities are granted access. IAM involves the creation, management, and enforcement of policies that define user identities and their corresponding permissions to access specific resources. This helps prevent unauthorized access and ensures that security policies are properly enforced.

While encryption and activity monitoring are important security practices, they are not the primary focus of IAM. Similarly, IAM is about assigning appropriate access levels based on roles and needs, not ensuring all users have the same level of access.
