Cloud Security Alliance Certificate of Cloud Security Knowledge (v4.0) Exam Sample Questions (Q227-Q232):

NEW QUESTION # 227

Which of the following best describes the Identity Provider (IdP) and its role in managing access to deployments?

- A. The IdP manages user, group, and role mappings for access to deployments across cloud providers.
- B. The IdP is responsible for creating deployments and setting up access policies within a single cloud provider.
- C. The IdP solely manages access within a deployment and resides within the deployment infrastructure.
- D. The IdP is used for authentication purposes and does not play a role in managing access to deployments.

Answer: A

Explanation:

An Identity Provider (IdP) is responsible for authentication and authorization, particularly by managing user identities and their roles across various systems and services. In a cloud environment, the IdP facilitates the management of user, group, and role mappings that determine which users have access to which resources, including deployments across different cloud providers. The IdP acts as the central authority for managing identities and ensuring that users are granted appropriate access based on their roles and credentials.

NEW QUESTION # 228

ISO 27001 certification can be taken as proof to achieve Third-party assessment level in CSA star program.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:

The CSA STAR Certification is a rigorous third-party independent assessment of the security of a cloud service provider. The technology-neutral certification leverages the requirements of the ISO/IEC 27001:2013 management system standard together with the CSA Cloud Controls Matrix.

NEW QUESTION # 229

Which of the following best describes a key benefit of Software-Defined Networking (SDN)?

- A. SDN eliminates the need for physical network devices and cabling
- B. SDN allows networks to be dynamically configured and managed through software
- C. SDN is primarily focused on improving network security through advanced firewalls
- D. SDN is a hardware-based solution for optimizing network performance

Answer: B

Explanation:

A key benefit of Software-Defined Networking (SDN) is that it allows networks to be dynamically configured and managed through software. SDN separates the control plane from the data plane, enabling centralized management and programmable network configurations, which improves flexibility and scalability in cloud environments.

From the CCSK v5.0 Study Guide, Domain 9 (Network Security), Section 9.3:

"Software-Defined Networking (SDN) enables dynamic configuration and management of networks through software, decoupling the control plane from the data plane. This allows organizations to programmatically adjust network policies and traffic flows, improving agility and scalability in cloud environments." Option C (SDN allows networks to be dynamically configured and managed through software) is the correct answer.

Option A (Hardware-based solution) is incorrect because SDN is software-based.

Option B (Eliminates physical devices) is incorrect because SDN still relies on physical infrastructure.

Option D (Focused on firewalls) is incorrect because SDN's primary benefit is flexibility, not firewalls.

NEW QUESTION # 230

Which of the following is an effective way of segregating different cloud networks and datacenters in a hybrid cloud environment?

- A. Virtual Private Networks
- B. Virtual LANs
- C. Dedicated Hosting
- D. Bastion Virtual Network

Answer: D

Explanation:

One emerging architecture for hybrid cloud connectivity is "bastion" or "transit" virtual networks:

. This scenario allows you to connect multiple, different cloud networks to a data center using a single hybrid connection. The cloud user builds a dedicated virtual network for the hybrid connection and then peers any other networks through the designated bastion network.

. Second-level networks connect to the data center through the bastion network, but since they aren't peered to each other they can't talk to each other and are effectively segregated. Also, you can deploy different security tools, firewall rulesets, and Access Control Lists in the bastion network to further protect traffic in and out of the hybrid connection.
