NEW QUESTION # 128

The entity that has the primary relationship with an individual from whom his/her PII is collected is known as:

- A. Data custodian
- B. Data Manager
- C. Data Controller
- D. Data processor

Answer: C

Explanation:

The data controller (typically the entity that has the primary relationship with an individual) is prohibited from collecting and processing personal data unless certain criteria are met. For example, if the data subject has consented to the collection and proposed uses of his or her data, then the controller may collect and process data, according to the consent agreement.
