Juniper Data Center, Specialist (JNCIS-DC) Sample Questions (Q11-Q16):

NEW QUESTION # 11

Which three multihoming mechanisms are supported in the Juniper Apstra rack design? (Choose three.)

- A. vPC
- B. ESI
- C. MLAG
- D. VRRP
- E. virtual chassis

Answer: A,B,C

NEW QUESTION # 12

What are three phases of the Juniper Apstra data center life cycle? (Choose three.)

- A. design
- B. operational phase
- C. deployment
- D. configuration
- E. installation

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

Apstra organizes the data center life cycle into distinct phases that align with intent-based networking principles:

- Design: Define the architecture, templates, logical devices, racks, and connectivity.
- Deployment: Instantiate the design into a real fabric, assign systems, push configurations.
- Operational Phase: Monitor, manage, and analyze the running network using telemetry, analytics, and automation tools.

NEW QUESTION # 13

In Juniper Apstra terminology, to which network operating system concept does a routing zone refer?

- A. VRF
- B. IRB
- C. access list
- D. VLAN

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Juniper Apstra terminology, a routing zone corresponds to a VRF (Virtual Routing and Forwarding) instance in a network operating system. It represents a separate routing table that provides traffic isolation between tenants or applications.

NEW QUESTION # 14

What are three valid resource types supported within Juniper Apstra? (Choose three.)

- A. ASN pools
- B. Routing zone pools
- C. Interface pools
- D. Integer pools
- E. VNI pools

Answer: A,D,E

Explanation:

In Apstra 5.1, resources are values that must be allocated uniquely and consistently across a fabric so Apstra can render deterministic, conflict-free configurations. These values are managed through resource pools, which provide ranges (or sets) of assignable identifiers that Apstra can automatically allocate to blueprint elements during build and deployment.

Three valid resource pool types in Apstra are ASN pools, VNI pools, and integer pools. ASN pools supply Autonomous System Numbers used in IP fabric underlays (commonly eBGP in three-stage Clos), ensuring each device or role receives the correct AS assignment without manual tracking. VNI pools supply VXLAN Network Identifiers for overlay segmentation in EVPN-VXLAN fabrics. Apstra uses these to create scalable tenant segments where the VNI uniquely identifies the broadcast domain in the overlay, and Junos v24.4 devices (leaf VTEPs) are configured accordingly. Integer pools provide generic numeric values used mainly in Freeform-style designs or in situations where a template needs a consistent allocated integer (for example, a custom ID used by a configlet or another allocation-driven construct).

"Routing zone pools" and "interface pools" are not resource pool types in Apstra. Routing zones (VRFs) are blueprint design objects, and interfaces are physical/logical constructs, but neither is consumed as an allocatable "pool" resource type in the Apstra resource catalog model.

NEW QUESTION # 15

You must enable ECMP load balance in your three-stage EBGW IP Clos fabric.

In this scenario, which two features are required? (Choose two.)

- A. multihop applied to the BGP group
- B. multipath multiple-as applied to the BGP group
- C. a load-balance policy applied to the forwarding table
- D. a load-balance policy applied to the BGP group

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

A load-balance policy applied to the forwarding table is required to instruct the device to perform ECMP (Equal-Cost Multi-Path) load balancing across multiple next hops in the forwarding plane.

multipath multiple-as applied to the BGP group is necessary when EBGW peers are in different ASNs, as in a typical IP Clos fabric, to allow multiple paths from different ASNs to be installed for ECMP.
