CrowdStrike Certified SIEM Engineer Sample Questions (Q47-Q52):

NEW QUESTION # 47

What is the most appropriate action if a third-party connector is disconnected and no longer ingesting data?

- A. Change all searches to Falcon-only data
- B. Delete the related parser immediately
- C. Ignore it until the monthly ingestion report updates
- D. Review connector health and reconnect or reauthorize the integration

Answer: D

Explanation:

When a third-party connector is disconnected, the correct response is to review the connector's configuration, authentication, and health state, then reconnect or reauthorize it as needed. Deleting the parser does not address the connectivity problem, and ignoring the issue delays restoration of ingestion visibility.

NEW QUESTION # 48

You are performing a search query using data from the Falcon Sensor and third-party data connectors. Which Advanced Event Search data source should you choose?

- A. All
- B. Custom
- C. Falcon
- D. Third-party

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. All . Falcon Next-Gen SIEM is designed to unify first-party Falcon telemetry with third-party ingested data in a single investigation and search experience. When the query needs to include both Falcon Sensor data and third-party connector data, the correct data source selection is the one that includes both categories together, which is All . CrowdStrike describes Next-Gen SIEM as correlating native Falcon data with third-party sources to provide a unified security view.

NEW QUESTION # 49

You need to import a pre-built workflow into Fusion SOAR to automate a part of your incident response process. Which file format would you use?

- A. .YAML
- B. .JSON
- C. .PY
- D. .CPP

Answer: A

Explanation:

The best-supported answer is D. .YAML .

CrowdStrike's recent Falcon Fusion SOAR technical content shows workflow structures represented in YAML . In particular, CrowdStrike's workflow-based pagination example for Falcon Fusion SOAR says, "The following YAML shows the workflow structure," and then provides the workflow definition in YAML form. That indicates YAML is the workflow definition format used in documented examples for reusable/pre- built workflow structures.

Why the other options are incorrect:

A (.CPP) and C (.PY) are programming language source files, not workflow import formats for Fusion SOAR. B (.JSON) is heavily used elsewhere in the platform for schemas, API payloads, and structured data, but the CrowdStrike materials I found that specifically show workflow structure present it in YAML , not JSON. Based on that documented workflow representation, .YAML is the correct answer here.

NEW QUESTION # 50

What should you do with a field that is not CPS-compliant when adding it to a parser?

- A. Leave the field unchanged
- B. Remove the field from the parser output
- C. Prefix the field with Vendor
- D. Convert the field to ECS format

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Prefix the field with Vendor .

CrowdStrike's CPS documentation says that when an event contains fields that do not exist in ECS , their names should be prefixed with the string literal Vendor. . The same guidance also says to always keep the original Vendor. field when normalizing third-party fields to ECS . That directly matches option D.

Why the other options are incorrect:

CPS does not tell you to remove non-ECS fields or leave them unstructured without normalization. It also does not say every non-compliant field must be converted into ECS. Instead, the standard preserves those vendor-specific fields under the Vendor. namespace.

NEW QUESTION # 51

You want a Next-Gen SIEM dashboard to update automatically when new data is available. Which action would you take?

- A. Toggle the "Live" button to on
- B. Change the "Fixed Time Range" to the current date
- C. Change the "Start Time" interval to 1 hour
- D. Change the "Relative Time Range" interval to 1 millisecond ago

Answer: A
