OKRs consist of an objective, which is a concise, qualitative, and inspirational statement of what is to be achieved, and one or more key results, which are specific, quantitative, and time-bound measures of progress toward the objective. OKRs help align teams and individuals around a common vision, focus on the most important outcomes, and foster a culture of feedback and learning. Answer: A

Explanation:

SAFe Implementation Roadmap is a template for putting SAFe into practice within an organization. The roadmap is based on proven organizational change management strategies and successful adoption patterns from hundreds of the world's largest enterprises. The roadmap helps leaders and change agents to script the critical moves, create a sense of urgency, build a guiding coalition, form a strategic vision, enlist a volunteer army, enable action by removing barriers, generate short-term wins, sustain acceleration, and institute change. #### NEW QUESTION # 90

Team A has seven developers that can define and build any application the organization requires. Team A works with another team to test and deploy their work. Can Team A be considered a high-functioning Agile Team?

- A. Yes, because they use another team to deploy
- B. Yes, because they can build any application the organization requires
- C. No, because they are not cross-functional
- D. No, because they have fewer than ten developers

Answer: C

Explanation:

A high-functioning Agile Team is a cross-functional group of typically ten or fewer individuals with all the skills necessary to define, build, test, and deliver value to their customer<sup>1</sup>. Team A is not cross-functional because they depend on another team to test and deploy their work, which creates handoffs and delays in the value delivery process. A cross-functional team should be able to perform all the activities required to deliver a potentially releasable increment of value in each iteration<sup>2</sup>. Team A should collaborate with the other team to integrate their testing and deployment capabilities and form a single Agile Team that can deliver value independently.
