CompTIA Project+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q123-Q128):

NEW QUESTION # 123
Which of the following BEST describes how an organization should coordinate management of multiple related projects?

- A. Establish a program.
- B. Use different frameworks
- C. Apply the SDLC process.
- D. Consult the CCB.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The BEST way to coordinate management of multiple related projects is to establish a program. A program is a group of related projects that are managed together to achieve specific strategic business objectives. References: CompTIA Project+ Study Guide Section 2.2.1 The organization should establish a program to coordinate management of multiple related projects. A program is a group of related projects, subprograms, and program activities that are managed in a coordinated way to obtain benefits and control not available from managing them individually. A program can help to align multiple projects with strategic goals, optimize resources and risks, and deliver value to stakeholders.

NEW QUESTION # 124
A project team evaluated the performance of a new reporting system and the quantity of queries to be processed during predetermined time stamps.

Control Chart

For chart creating purposes: mean is at 65.

Mean — ● Duration — Lower Limit — Upper Limit

Which of the following is the current status of the process?

- A. The process is out of control and should be revised.
- B. The amount of data is insufficient to determine if quality is low.
- C. The goal should be adjusted since most of the data points are close to the lower limit.
- D. Based on the rule of seven, the process is under control

Answer: A

Explanation:
The process is out of control and should be revised. The project manager can use the rule of seven to determine the status of the process based on the control chart. The rule of seven states that if seven or more consecutive measurements fall on one side of the mean that there's an assignable cause that needs investigation. In this case, the last seven data points are all below the mean, which indicates that the process is out of control and in need of adjustment12

NEW QUESTION # 125
Which of the following is a quality assurance tool?

- A. Assessing skill gaps
- B. Identifying the root cause analysis
- C. Assessing employee efficiency
- D. Defining project goals

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation
Identifying the root cause analysis. Identifying the root cause analysis is a quality assurance tool that can help to find and eliminate the underlying causes of quality problems or defects. Root cause analysis is a systematic process of asking why a problem occurred and tracing it back to its source. Root cause analysis can help to prevent recurrence of the same or similar problems, improve quality performance, and reduce costs and risks1

NEW QUESTION # 126
A project manager is working on an existing, large, complex project that involves regulatory and environmental considerations. The development of a detailed project plan will be critical. Which of the following should the project manager do first?

- A. Review the project charter.
- B. Evaluate potential risks.
- C. Start the process of engaging the stakeholders.
- D. Arrange a kickoff meeting.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The project charter is a foundational document that formally authorizes a project and provides the project manager with the authority to apply organizational resources to project activities. Reviewing the project charter is essential at the outset to understand the project's objectives, scope, stakeholders, and any constraints or assumptions. This understanding is crucial, especially for large, complex projects with regulatory and environmental considerations, as it sets the direction for detailed planning and stakeholder engagement.
According to the CompTIA Project+ PK0-005 exam objectives, under Domain 2.1: Explain the value of artifacts in the discovery/concept preparation phase for a project, the project charter is a key artifact that guides the initiation and planning phases.

NEW QUESTION # 127
During a sponsor meeting, a PM is assigned to manage a new external project for an IT consultant. The sponsor wants the PM to establish an agreement regarding the exchange of money between both parties. Which of the following documents would the PM most likely create?

- A. Client statement of work
- B. Formal contract
- C. Business requirement
- D. Project charter

Answer: B

Explanation:
A formal contract is a legal document that defines the terms and conditions of the agreement between the project parties, such as the scope, schedule, budget, quality, deliverables, roles and responsibilities, payment methods, and dispute resolution mechanisms. A formal contract is essential for external projects, especially when there is an exchange of money involved, to protect the interests and rights of both parties and to ensure mutual understanding and compliance. A formal contract is different from a business requirement, which is a statement of the needs and expectations of the customer or stakeholder for the project outcome. A formal contract is also different from a client statement of work, which is a document that describes the work to be performed, the deliverables to be provided, and the acceptance criteria to be met by the project vendor or contractor. A formal contract is also different from a project charter, which is a document that authorizes the project and provides the high-level information about the project objectives, scope, stakeholders, and project manager.
