NEW QUESTION # 13
An organization manually checks that releases of new or changed products/services have been successfully completed. Which tools should be used to automate this process?

- A. Monitoring and event management tools
- B. Workflow management and collaboration tools
- C. Enterprise architecture tools
- D. Analysis and reporting tools

Answer: A

Explanation:
Automating the verification of release success involves tracking the performance and stability of the released services. TheITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Managementdocument notes:"Monitoring and event management tools can automate the verification of release success by tracking system performance and detecting anomalies post-release, ensuring the release meets its objectives"(Section 4.2).
* Option A (Monitoring and event management tools) is correct, as these tools can automatically check system health and performance after a release, replacing manual checks.
* Option B (Workflow management and collaboration tools) focuses on process coordination, not post- release verification.
* Option C (Enterprise architecture tools) is used for dependency mapping, not release verification.
* Option D (Analysis and reporting tools) provides retrospective insights but doesn't automate real-time verification.
The correct answer is A, as monitoring tools are best suited for automating release verification.

NEW QUESTION # 14
Which activity of the 'release model development and improvement' process is used to standardize the preparation of release instances?

- A. Release execution
- B. Release management approach review and development
- C. Release model review and development
- D. Product architecture and service relationship analysis

Answer: C

Explanation:

TheITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Managementdocument explains:"Release model review and development involves defining and standardizing the structure, contents, and schedule of releases to ensure consistency in the preparation of release instances"(Section 3.2.2).
* Option A (Release management approach review and development) focuses on the overall practice approach, not specifically the preparation of release instances.
* Option B (Release model review and development) directly addresses standardizing the preparation of release instances by defining repeatable models.
* Option C (Product architecture and service relationship analysis) is a supporting activity to understand dependencies, not to standardize release preparation.
* Option D (Release execution) is the process of deploying a release, not developing or standardizing models.

The correct answer is B, as it directly relates to standardizing release preparation through model development.

NEW QUESTION # 15

A release manager has noticed that the organization has many standardized services provided to international organizations. Which aspect of release management will this situation directly affect?

- A. Continuous integration
- B. Continuous delivery
- C. The release plans
- D. The release models

Answer: D

Explanation:
Standardized services provided to international organizations imply a need for consistency and scalability in how releases are managed across diverse contexts. The ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document explains that release models are used to standardize the approach to releases: "Release models define the structure, contents, and schedule of releases... They ensure consistent and repeatable processes, which is particularly important for organizations with standardized services"(Section 3.2.2).
* Option A (The release plans) refers to specific plans for individual releases, which may be affected indirectly but are not the primary aspect impacted by standardization needs.
* Option B (Continuous integration) and Option C (Continuous delivery) are development practices that may interact with release management but are not directly affected by the need for standardization across international services.
* Option D (The release models) is directly affected, as standardized services require well-defined release models to ensure consistency, repeatability, and scalability across international contexts.
The situation directly impacts the design and application of release models to accommodate standardized services globally. Thus, the correct answer is D.

NEW QUESTION # 16

A retail organization is hiring a new release manager. The vacancy description indicates that successful candidates should have good knowledge of technologies and platforms used by the organization, good knowledge of ITIL and DevOps, and experience in retail. What other skill is important to the release management role?

- A. Understanding of the organization's business
- B. Project planning and coordination
- C. Knowledge of service management frameworks
- D. Technical expertise

Answer: B

Explanation:
The release management role in ITIL 4 requires a range of competencies to ensure effective coordination and execution of releases. The ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document states: "A release manager must have strong project planning and coordination skills to manage the scheduling, communication, and execution of releases, ensuring alignment with organizational goals and minimal disruption"(Section 3.3).
* Option A (Knowledge of service management frameworks) is already covered by the requirement of ITIL knowledge in the vacancy description, so it's not an additional skill.
* Option B (Project planning and coordination) is a critical skill for release managers, as they need to orchestrate complex release activities, manage timelines, and coordinate with stakeholders, which isn't explicitly covered by the listed requirements.
* Option C (Technical expertise) is implied by the requirement for knowledge of technologies and platforms, so it's not an additional skill.
* Option D (Understanding of the organization's business) is important but less specific to release management compared to project planning, and the retail experience requirement already covers business context.
The correct answer is B, as project planning and coordination is a key additional skill for effective release management.

NEW QUESTION # 17

During a value stream walk of the incident resolution value stream, an organization has realized that some incidents take longer to resolve because installation of overdue software updates is required. What should the organization do to improve the incident resolution times?

- A. Include release of the required updates in the incident resolution activities
- B. Include release of the required updates in the request fulfilment activities
- C. Ensure that required updates are enforced as part of the ongoing operations and maintenance
- D. Ensure that required updates are included in the release of the new services

Answer: C

Explanation:
This scenario involves using technology to improve incident resolution by addressing overdue updates. The ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document states:"To prevent delays in incident resolution due to overdue updates, release management can enforce updates as part of ongoing operations and maintenance, using automated tools to ensure systems are up-to-date"(Section 4.2).
* Option A (Include updates in incident resolution activities) is reactive and inefficient, as it delays resolution by embedding release activities into incident handling.
* Option B (Ensure updates are enforced as part of ongoing operations and maintenance) is proactive, using technology to keep systems updated, thus reducing incident resolution times by preventing the issue.
* Option C (Include updates in request fulfilment activities) addresses user requests, not the root cause of incident delays.
* Option D (Ensure updates are included in the release of new services) doesn't address existing systems needing updates, only new services.
The correct answer is B, as it leverages technology in operations to proactively manage updates, aligning with ITIL 4 principles.
