Virginia Insurance Virginia Life, Annuities, and Health Insurance Examination Series 11-01 Sample Questions (Q203-Q208):

NEW QUESTION # 203

Which of the following terms may NOT be used in the advertisement of Accident and Sickness Insurance?

- A. Unlimited Benefits
- B. Reductions
- C. Pre-existing conditions
- D. Exclusions

Answer: A

Explanation:

Virginia Code § 38.2-503 prohibits unfair or deceptive advertising in insurance, including Accident and Sickness policies. Terms like "reductions" (option A), "exclusions" (option B), and "pre-existing conditions" (option C) are factual policy features that must be disclosed clearly under Virginia Administrative Code 14VAC5-41-10 et seq., ensuring transparency. However, "unlimited benefits" (option D) is misleading if untrue, as all policies have limits (e.g., maximum benefits or coverage caps). Advertising "unlimited benefits" without substantiation violates Virginia's rules against exaggerated or false claims, risking consumer deception. The study guide likely warns against such terms, citing examples where insurers faced penalties for overstating coverage, making D the prohibited choice.

NEW QUESTION # 204

All of the following are dividend options in life insurance policies EXCEPT:

- A. Applying the dividends to reduce the premium due
- B. Receiving the entire policy cash value
- C. Using the dividends to purchase additional paid-up life insurance
- D. Accumulating the dividends with interest

Answer: B

Explanation:

Virginia Code § 38.2-3207 allows participating life policies to offer dividend options: option A (reduce premium), option B (buy paid-up additions increasing coverage), and option C (accumulate with interest) are standard, reflecting insurer profits shared with policyowners. Option D (receiving the entire cash value) isn't a dividend option; it's a surrender or nonforfeiture action, terminating the policy, not distributing profits. The study guide likely lists these options with examples-e.g., $100 dividend reducing a $500 premium (A)- contrasting them with cash value withdrawal, making D the exception.

NEW QUESTION # 205

All changes and corrections made to an application for health insurance by an agent must be initialed by the:

- A. Applicant's physician
- B. Insurance company underwriter
- C. Agent
- D. Applicant

Answer: D

Explanation:

Virginia Code § 38.2-3501 governs health insurance applications, requiring accuracy and applicant consent.

Changes or corrections by an agent (e.g., fixing a misspelled name) must be initialed by the applicant (option B) to verify agreement, as the application becomes part of the contract (Virginia Code § 38.2-3503). Option A (agent) initialing alone risks unauthorized alterations. Option C (physician) is irrelevant; medical input isn't standard for application edits. Option D (underwriter) assesses, not corrects, applications post-submission.

The study guide likely stresses this consumer protection rule, with examples-e.g., an agent correcting a birthdate, initialed by the applicant-ensuring transparency, making B the correct party.

NEW QUESTION # 206

Who has the right to change the beneficiary of an AD&D policy with a revocable beneficiary designation?

- A. The agent
- B. The policyowner
- C. The beneficiary
- D. The insurer

Answer: B

Explanation:

In an AD&D (Accidental Death and Dismemberment) policy with a revocable beneficiary designation, the policyowner has the right to change the beneficiary. A revocable beneficiary designation means that the policyowner can change the beneficiary at any time without the beneficiary's consent. This is in contrast to an irrevocable beneficiary designation, where the beneficiary's consent would be required to make a change.

NEW QUESTION # 207

A contractual arrangement that transfers exposure from one insurer to another insurer is a:

- A. Reinsurance contract
- B. Captive contract
- C. Reciprocal contract
- D. Coinsurance contract

Answer: A

Explanation:

Detailed Answer in Step-by-Step Solution:

* Reinsurance (C) is a process where one insurer (the ceding company) transfers part or all of its risk to another insurer (the reinsurer) to reduce exposure.

* A reciprocal contract (A) involves mutual insurance exchanges, not risk transfer between insurers.

* Coinsurance (B) refers to shared risk between the insurer and policyholder, not between insurers.

* A captive contract (D) involves a company insuring itself through a subsidiary, not transferring risk to another insurer.

The Virginia study guide defines reinsurance as a contractual arrangement allowing insurers to mitigate risk by transferring it to another insurer, a common practice in the industry. Reference: Virginia Life, Annuities, and Health Insurance study guide, section on "Insurance Company Operations."
