Practice is one of the essential factors in passing the exam. To perform at their best on the real exam, candidates must use Google Professional-Cloud-Developer practice test material. To this end, Professional-Cloud-Developer has developed three formats to help candidates prepare for their Professional-Cloud-Developer exam: desktop-based practice test software, web-based practice test, and a PDF format.

Google Certified Professional - Cloud Developer Sample Questions (Q40-Q45):

NEW QUESTION # 40

You have an application running in App Engine. Your application is instrumented with Stackdriver Trace. The /product-details request reports details about four known unique products at /sku-details as shown below. You want to reduce the time it takes for the request to complete. What should you do?

- A. Store the /sku-details information in a database, and replace the webservice call with a database query.
- B. Change /product-details to perform the requests in parallel.
- C. Change the Persistent Disk type to SSD.
- D. Increase the size of the instance class.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 41

You are trying to connect to your Google Kubernetes Engine (GKE) cluster using kubectl from Cloud Shell.

You have deployed your GKE cluster with a public endpoint. From Cloud Shell, you run the following command:

You notice that the kubectl commands time out without returning an error message. What is the most likely cause of this issue?

- A. The Cloud Shell is not part of the same VPC as the GKE cluster.
- B. Your user account does not have privileges to interact with the cluster using kubectl.
- C. A VPC firewall is blocking access to the cluster's endpoint.
- D. Your Cloud Shell external IP address is not part of the authorized networks of the cluster.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 42

Your company's development teams want to use various open source operating systems in their Docker builds. When images are created in published containers in your company's environment, you need to scan them for Common Vulnerabilities and Exposures (CVEs). The scanning process must not impact software development agility. You want to use managed services where possible. What should you do?

- A. Create a Cloud Function that is triggered on a code check-in and scan the code for CVEs.
- B. Enable the Vulnerability scanning setting in the Container Registry.
- C. Use Cloud Monitoring to review the output of Cloud Build to determine whether a vulnerable version has been used.
- D. Disallow the use of non-commercially supported base images in your development environment.

NEW QUESTION # 43

Your company is planning to migrate their on-premises Hadoop environment to the cloud. Increasing storage cost and maintenance of data stored in HDFS is a major concern for your company. You also want to make minimal changes to existing data analytics jobs and existing architecture. How should you proceed with the migration?

- A. Create Compute Engine instances with HDD instead of SSD to save costs. Then perform a full migration of your existing environment into the new one in Compute Engine instances.
- B. Create a Cloud Dataproc cluster on Google Cloud Platform, and then migrate your Hadoop environment to the new Cloud Dataproc cluster. Move your HDFS data into larger HDD disks to save on storage costs.
- C. Create a Cloud Dataproc cluster on Google Cloud Platform, and then migrate your Hadoop code objects to the new cluster. Move your data to Cloud Storage and leverage the Cloud Dataproc connector to run jobs on that data.
- D. Migrate your data stored in Hadoop to BigQuery. Change your jobs to source their information from BigQuery instead of the on-premises Hadoop environment.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 44

You need to migrate an internal file upload API with an enforced 500-MB file size limit to App Engine. What should you do?

- A. Use signed URLs to upload files.
- B. Use CPanel to upload files.
- C. Change the API to be a multipart file upload API.
- D. Use FTP to upload files.
