NEW QUESTION # 112

In integrated mode, the Replicat process leverages the apply processing functionality that is available within the Oracle database. How does it operate?

- A. It reads the Oracle GoldenGate trail, performs data filtering, mapping and conversion. Then, it transmits the regular change records to the inbound server, which applies the data to the target database.
- B. It reads the Oracle GoldenGate trail, performs data filtering, mapping, and conversion. Then, it constructs logical change records (LCRs) from source database DML transactions. Then it is attached to a background process in the target database by means of lightweight streaming mechanism, which transmits the LCRs to the inbound server, which applies the data to the target database.
- C. It reads the Oracle GoldenGate trail, performs data filtering, mapping, and conversion. Then, it constructs logical change records (LCRs) from source database DML transactions. DDL is applied directly by Replicat. Finally, it transmits the LCRs to the inbound server, which applies the data to the target database.
- D. It reads the Oracle GoldenGate trail, performs data filtering, mapping and conversion. Then, it constructs logical change records from source database DML transactions. Next, it uses standard SQL to apply data directly to the target tables.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Integrated Replicat constructs LCRs for DML, sends them to the inbound server for apply, while DDL is applied directly by Replicat-not through the inbound server.
