- A. You can use any infosec related online sources.
- B. You can use an online search engine like Google and you will find the answer in the first results.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 19

What GUI options do you have to access the Endpoint Security Management Server in a cloud environment?

- A. Nothing, there is no Cloud Support for Endpoint Management Server.
- B. SmartConsole and Gaia WebUI
- C. Infinity Portal and Web Management Console
- D. SmartEndpoint Distributor

Answer: C

Explanation:

In a cloud environment, the primary graphical user interface (GUI) options for accessing the Endpoint Security Management Server are the Infinity Portal and the Web Management Console. The Infinity Portal is a web-based platform provided by Check Point that allows administrators to manage security capabilities, including Harmony Endpoint, from a unified interface. It is specifically designed for cloud-based management and offers features like policy configuration and threat monitoring. The Web Management Console is also a relevant GUI tool for managing Harmony Endpoint, often used in conjunction with the Infinity Portal, though its specific role may vary depending on the deployment.

Option B, SmartConsole and Gaia WebUI, is incorrect because these tools are typically used for on-premises Check Point security gateways and management servers, not specifically for cloud-based endpoint management. Option C is false, as cloud support is indeed available through the Infinity Portal. Option D, SmartEndpoint Distributor, is not a GUI for accessing the management server; it is a component related to endpoint policy distribution, not a management interface. Thus, the correct answer is A. Infinity Portal and Web Management Console.

NEW QUESTION # 20

If there are multiple EPS in an environment, what happens?

- A. Each Endpoint client automatically communicates with the EMS
- B. Each Endpoint client automatically communicates with the SMS
- C. One Endpoint client automatically communicates with the server
- D. Each Endpoint client does an analysis to find which EPS is "closest" and automatically communicates with that server.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In a Harmony Endpoint environment with multiple External Endpoint Policy Servers (EPS), the system is designed to optimize client-server communication by allowing Endpoint clients to select the most suitable EPS. This selection is based on a proximity analysis, typically determined by network latency, to ensure efficient performance and reduced latency.

TheCP_R81.20_Harmony_Endpoint_Server_AdminGuide.pdf explicitly addresses this behavior on page 195, under "Endpoint Policy Server Proximity Analysis":

"Each Endpoint client does an analysis to find which EPS is 'closest' and automatically communicates with that server. This analysis is based on network latency and other factors to ensure optimal performance." This extract confirms that:

- * Each Endpoint client performs an analysis: The client itself evaluates available EPS instances.

- * Determines the "closest" EPS: "Closest" refers to network proximity, often measured by latency, though other factors may contribute.

- * Automatically communicates with that server: Once identified, the client establishes communication with the selected EPS without manual intervention.

Option C precisely reflects this process, making it the correct answer. Let's review the other options:

- * Option A ("One Endpoint client automatically communicates with the server"): This is vague and incorrect. It suggests only one client communicates, and "the server" is unspecified (EMS, EPS, or SMS?), failing to address the multi-EPS scenario.

- * Option B ("Each Endpoint client automatically communicates with the EMS"): This contradicts the purpose of EPS, which is to offload communication from the EMS. Clients prioritize EPS when available, as per page 25.

- * Option D ("Each Endpoint client automatically communicates with the SMS"): "SMS" likely refers to the Security Management Server, but Harmony Endpoint primarily uses the EMS (Endpoint Security Management Server). The documentation does not indicate clients defaulting to an SMS, making this incorrect.

Therefore, Option C is fully supported by the documentation, describing the intelligent, proximity-based behavior of clients in a multi-EPS environment.

NEW QUESTION # 21

Which User Roles are on the Endpoint Security Management Server for On-Premises servers?

- A. Super Admin, Primary Administrator, User Admin, Read-Only
- B. Primary Administrator and Read-Only
- C. Super Admin, Read-Write All, Read-Only
- D. Admin and Read-Only

Answer: D

Explanation:

On-premises servers have only two user roles: "Admin" & "Read-only".

These are the roles:

Admin - Full Read & Write access to all system aspects.

Read-Only User - Has access to all system aspects, but cannot make any changes.
