NEW QUESTION # 59

An organization is using an adaptive security policy where a Data Center Object was imported and used in some rules. When the cloud resource represented by this object changes it's IP address, how will the change be effected on the Security Gateway

- A. With a property functioning configuration, the change will automatically be done on the Security Gateway without any action required by the administrator
- B. The Data Center Object needs to be refreshed in the SmartConsole and then a policy install will be required
- C. The change is automatically updated to the Security Management Server and so only a policy install from SmartConsole or with API will be required
- D. If CloudGuard Controller is enabled on the Security Gateway, the gateway will connect with the Cloud account and synchronize all the Data Center Objects used on protected cloud resources by automatically updating SmartConsole, security logs, and API connections to cloud accounts.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The CloudGuard Controller dynamically learns about objects and attributes in Workloads, such as changes in subnets, security groups, virtual machines, IP addresses, and tags. After using the vendor's API to establish a trust relationship with a datacenter, CloudGuard Controller regularly polls the connected environments for changes in objects and object attributes used in the Security Policy. Changes are automatically pushed to the security gateway.

Dynamic environments present a large challenge to security professionals. The number of subnets, machines, and IP addresses changes quickly. The legacy model of manual updates to the security policy and Security Gateways every two or three days is too slow for such environments.

In most organizations, personnel from several different departments have permission to add or remove assets in Workloads. This kind of overlap creates a concern about the security and maintenance of assets in the data center. The solution to manual updates is to protect the security and maintenance of the assets - automatically. This is where the CloudGuard Controller comes in to assist. With the CloudGuard Controller, the Security Operation Center (SOC) can configure the security policy to automatically detect changes in Workloads, and push these changes directly to the Gateway.
