CIPS Socially Responsible Warehousing and Distribution Sample Questions

(Q95-Q100):

NEW QUESTION # 95

The chosen method should create and encourage hazard-free and safer work conditions, improve efficiency and productivity, and boost time utilization and equipment usage.

- A. TRUE
- B. FALSE

Answer: A

Explanation:

The selection of material handling methods in warehousing must prioritize safety, efficiency, and productivity. A well-chosen method reduces workplace hazards (e.g., by minimizing manual lifting), enhances operational efficiency (e.g., through automation), and optimizes the use of time and equipment (e.g., by reducing idle periods). The CIPS L3M6 syllabus underscores that socially responsible warehousing involves designing systems that balance safety with operational performance, ensuring sustainable and effective inventory management. This statement aligns with those principles, making it true.

NEW QUESTION # 96

Socially responsible packaging strategies aim to do which of the following? Select all that apply.

- A. Increase costs
- B. Follow conservation principles
- C. Reduce waste
- D. A, C, and D
- E. Reduce the impact on the environment

Answer: D

Explanation:

Socially responsible packaging strategies aim to follow conservation principles (A), reduce environmental impact (C), and minimize waste (D), aligning with sustainability goals. Increasing costs (B) is not an objective; rather, cost efficiency is often a byproduct of these strategies. The CIPS L3M6 syllabus emphasizes these principles as core to responsible warehousing, making A, C, and D the correct selections.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which of the following are challenges when introducing sustainable procurement practices?

- A. The need to justify the principles to management
- B. All the above
- C. The lack of training and reliable information regarding social, ethical, and environmental principles and processes
- D. The need to justify the implementation cost to management

Answer: B

Explanation:

Challenges to sustainable procurement include:

- * Lack of training/information: Gaps in understanding ethical and environmental principles.
- * Justifying costs: Demonstrating financial viability to management.
- * Justifying principles: Convincing management of the strategic value of sustainability.

The CIPS L3M6 module identifies these as common barriers requiring education and strategic alignment to overcome.

NEW QUESTION # 98

_____ is the collection of laws and regulations on air quality, water quality, endangered wildlife, and other environmental factors.

- A. Environmental Prescription
- B. Environmental Charter
- C. Environmental Legislation
- D. Environmental Constitution

Answer: C

Explanation:

Environmental Legislation encompasses laws and regulations governing air/water quality, wildlife protection, and other ecological factors (e.g., UK's Environmental Protection Act 1990). The CIPS L3M6 module defines it as the legal framework ensuring compliance in supply chains-e.g., emission limits for transport. "Charter" (voluntary agreement), "Constitution" (broader governance), and "Prescription" (specific directive) are less accurate, making "Legislation" the correct LO2 term.

NEW QUESTION # 99

Energy efficiency in the construction sector can be achieved with the aid of government regulation. What incentives do they use?

- A. Special funding
- B. Tax benefits
- C. Emission targets
- D. None of the above

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

Governments play a pivotal role in promoting energy efficiency in the construction sector through regulatory incentives, which are designed to encourage sustainable practices and reduce environmental impact. These include:

* Emission Targets: Governments set mandatory limits on greenhouse gas emissions (e.g., carbon dioxide) for construction projects, pushing organizations to adopt energy-efficient designs and materials to comply. This aligns with international agreements like the Paris Agreement and national sustainability goals.

* Special Funding: Financial support, such as grants or subsidies, is provided to construction firms adopting energy-efficient technologies (e.g., insulation, renewable energy systems). This reduces the upfront cost barrier, making sustainable options more viable.

* Tax Benefits: Tax credits or reductions are offered to incentivize the use of energy-efficient materials and practices, lowering the overall cost of compliance and encouraging long-term investment in green construction.

These incentives are not mutually exclusive but work together to drive environmental responsibility. The CIPS L3M6 module highlights how such government interventions influence procurement decisions in the construction supply chain, aligning with broader sustainability objectives. The option "None of the above" is incorrect as it dismisses these widely recognized mechanisms.
