CIPS Supply Network Design Sample Questions (Q74-Q79):

NEW QUESTION # 74

The operations department of ABC Ltd has recently launched a new product. The product is manufactured within a large factory and then sent to retailers for sale. The department has a system in place which details the components required for the product and the quantities required to fulfil customer demand. The system works online and links to other areas of the business including HR and finance.

So far, several large orders have been placed for the product from different retailers. The Chief Operations Officer (COO) has decided to programme the completion of the orders based on when the orders were placed.

The benefit of this strategy is that it will give each customer a similar lead time. Thus far no buffer stock has been created as products are only created when orders are received.

Three teams are required to make the product and the product flows from team one to team two to team three, each team adding a component to the product. Unfortunately, team two are short staffed and are completing their work at a slower rate than the other two teams. This is a huge consideration for the COO as it will impact upon the capacity of the organisation.

The retailers have all signed contracts with ABC Ltd and the COO is extremely happy that they are long term contracts. Contract 1 is with retailer X and the price is set for three years. Contract 2 is with retailer Y and is a five year contract where the price will be reviewed annually in line with CPI. Contract 3 has a variable pricing mechanism based on the volume of products ordered.

What system is used by ABC Ltd?

- A. KPI
- B. Lean
- C. MRP
- D. ERP

Answer: D

Explanation:

The system used is ERP (Enterprise Resource Planning) since it links multiple business functions such as HR and finance. MRP and MRP II are primarily used for manufacturing/operations, and KPI refers to performance measurement rather than a system. (See LO 3.3)

NEW QUESTION # 75

Which of the following are not characteristics of good information?

- A. Timely
- B. Relevant

- C. Analysed
- D. Interpreted
- E. Accurate

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Analysed and interpreted are not characteristics of good information. The key characteristics of good information are accuracy, reliability, timeliness, relevance, and completeness. (See p.178)

NEW QUESTION # 76

Which of the following appear in the concept of Theory of Constraints? Select ALL that apply.

- A. Buffer
- B. Boat
- C. Safe harbour
- D. Rope
- E. Drum

Answer: A,D,E

Explanation:

The Theory of Constraints (TOC) includes the Drum, Buffer, and Rope approach. This method helps manage constraints in production by synchronising workflow. The Drum sets the pace, the Buffer protects against variability, and the Rope ensures efficient scheduling. Boat and safe harbour are not part of TOC. (See p.204) For further reading on Drum-Buffer-Rope, refer to this resource: #Theory of Constraints - Fortelabs

NEW QUESTION # 77
