Adobe Commerce Developer Expert Sample Questions (Q49-Q54):

NEW QUESTION # 49

A client uses APIs on their Adobe Commerce platform and powers external programs with the data fed from the Adobe API systems. The client reports that it is becoming unmanageable to handle all the API endpoints and would like to have a centralized API system.

Which new feature will help the client with this problem?

- A. Adobe Commerce API Mesh
- B. Adobe I/O Events for Adobe Commerce
- C. Adobe Bulk API Handler

Answer: A

Explanation:

Adobe Commerce API Mesh provides a centralized GraphQL layer that aggregates data from multiple APIs (Commerce, third-party systems, microservices). This allows the client to interact with a single unified API endpoint, instead of managing multiple APIs individually.

A Bulk API Handler does not exist.

B Adobe I/O Events is for real-time event streaming, not API centralization.

C is correct: API Mesh is the official solution for centralized API management.

NEW QUESTION # 50

A client reports an issue with indexers that are failing and remain stuck. The client asks a Developer to solve this issue.

What recommended solution should the Developer use?

- A. Run `bin/magento indexer:set-mode realtime <indexer_list>`.
- B. Create a cronjob that runs `bin/magento indexer:reindex` periodically.
- C. In `app/etc/env.php` `indexer_sync_mode -> false` under indexer node.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 51

A client with a multisite Adobe Commerce installation needs to manage different prices for the same product across various storefronts due to factors like regional pricing strategies and distribution costs. The lowest level of the hierarchy is used to manage localization, including product content.

How should the catalog price scope be configured to address the client's requirements?

- A. Catalog price scope should be set to Website.
- B. Catalog price scope should be set to Store View.
- C. Catalog price scope should be set to Global.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Adobe Commerce, product prices can be scoped at the Website level. This allows different websites (regional stores) to have independent pricing for the same products.

A (Global): Same price across all websites/stores # does not meet requirements.

C (Store View): Prices cannot be set at the store view level # only attributes like descriptions or translations can be localized.

B is correct: Website scope supports regional pricing strategies while sharing catalog data.

NEW QUESTION # 52

An Adobe Commerce Cloud Developer is tasked with investigating slow page loads and intermittent errors reported by a client after a recent deployment to their Pro Production environment.

Which action should the Developer use to quickly access and analyze the necessary data?

- A. Go to New Relic Log Management to access aggregated log data, allowing the analysis of application, infrastructure, CDN, and WAF errors.
- B. Access Cloud Console to review environment messages and deployment logs that took place during the previous deployment to production.
- C. Connect via SSH into each production node to review system and application logs independently for a more accurate representation of issues being logged.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Adobe Commerce Cloud Pro Production, logs are spread across multiple nodes, so manually checking each node (A) is inefficient. The correct approach is to use New Relic Log Management, which aggregates logs from all services and nodes. This allows developers to quickly analyze application logs, infrastructure logs, CDN, and WAF errors in one place.

A is inefficient and not recommended.

C only shows deployment logs, not ongoing runtime errors.

B is correct: New Relic Log Management is the single source of truth for performance and error analysis.
