Google Cloud Digital Leader Sample Questions (Q331-Q336):

NEW QUESTION # 331

An organization wants to dynamically adjust its application to serve different user needs. What are the benefits of storing their data in the cloud for this use case?

- A. No data access management required
- B. Real-time data ingestion and analysis
- C. Data can be stored in archive for long term access
- D. Automatic data cleaning and validation

Answer: B

Explanation:

By storing their application data in the cloud the organization will be able to gather and analyze user behavior data in real-time. This will enable them to dynamically adjust their application for different user needs.

NEW QUESTION # 333

You are a program manager for a team of developers who are building an event-driven application to allow users to follow one another's activities in the app. Each time a user adds himself as a follower of another user, a write occurs in the real-time database. The developers will develop a lightweight piece of code that can respond to database writes and generate a notification to let the appropriate users know that they have gained new followers. The code should integrate with other cloud services such as Pub/Sub, Firebase, and Cloud APIs to streamline the orchestration process. The application requires a platform that automatically manages underlying infrastructure and scales to zero when there is no activity.

Which primary compute resource should your developers select, given these requirements?

- A. App Engine flexible environment
- B. Compute Engine
- C. Cloud Functions
- D. Google Kubernetes Engine

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 334

An organization wants to move from a tactical cloud adoption approach to a transformational approach. How should they adapt the way they lead the organization?

- A. Shift from an operational expenditure model to capital expenditure

- B. Invest in on-premises infrastructure to redesign relationships between IT and employees
- C. Drive cloud adoption with an individual contributor focus
- D. Increase top-down visibility and foster a culture of blamelessness

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 335

A partner of yours used to have their own private data center. Your company was already on Google Cloud and now they have also moved to Google Cloud. You are investigating whether there are ways to collaborate better or shared services. What would be one good option to consider?

- A. Use VPC Peering to share resources privately between your two organizations.
- B. Use public IP addresses as before. It will automatically be routed internally only.
- C. Use Private Service Access within Google Cloud.
- D. Use VPC Shared Networks to share common resources.

Answer: A

Explanation:

VPC Network Peering allows internal IP address connectivity across two Virtual Private Cloud (VPC) networks regardless of whether they belong to the same project or the same organization.

-> Shared VPC is only within an organization - it allows an organization to connect resources from multiple projects to a common Virtual Private Cloud (VPC) network, so that they can communicate with each other securely and efficiently using internal IPs from that network.

-> Private Google Access is only to access Google APIs and services
