CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 1 Sample Questions (Q93-Q98):

NEW QUESTION # 93

A support technician receives a call stating that a user has added a device to the network. The user used the same configurations from another workstation. When both workstations are turned on, neither can access the network reliably. Which of the following is the most likely cause of the issue?

- A. The security on the switchport needs to be reset.
- B. The new computer has a duplicate IP address.
- C. The network cable was improperly terminated.
- D. The DNS server is registering both hostnames.

Answer: B

Explanation:

If two devices have the same static IP address, an IP conflict occurs. This results in both devices being intermittently disconnected or unable to communicate on the network. It's a common mistake when copying configurations manually.

Option B: DNS conflicts wouldn't cause total disconnection - and wouldn't occur just from copying IP settings.

Option C: A cable issue would only affect one workstation.

Option D: Switchport security issues wouldn't affect both machines simultaneously unless port security was configured very specifically.

NEW QUESTION # 94

A computer is experiencing random shutdowns. A technician notices that the fans on the computer work but are noisy. The CPU temperature is about 122°F (50°C) when the computer is started but rises to 208°F (98°C) when applications are opened. Which of the following would most likely fix this issue?

- A. Adding more RAM to the computer
- B. Replacing the power supply
- C. Adjusting the fan settings
- D. Installing a high-performance heat sink

Answer: D

Explanation:

Excessive heat buildup due to insufficient cooling is a primary cause of unexpected shutdowns. A high-performance heat sink improves thermal transfer, dissipates more heat, and helps maintain CPU temperature within safe limits. When CPU temperatures reach levels like 208°F (98°C), the system may shut down to prevent damage.

NEW QUESTION # 95

A customer built a computer for gaming, sourcing individual components and then assembling the system.

The OS starts up, but within a few minutes the machine locks up. The customer brought the computer to a technician to diagnose the issue.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

correct

answer is "Overclocking" and "Reduce CPU Clock speed" CPU is at 4.5 Ghz when normal is 3.2 Ghz.

Overclocking too much can cause freezes, and this is a gaming computer so the user probably took it too far.

NEW QUESTION # 96

A user connects their laptop to a projector in a conference room. Once connected, the user reports the screen is smaller at the bottom than at the top. The user tries restarting the laptop and then disconnecting and reconnecting the cable to the projector. Which of the following should a technician do to resolve the issue?

- A. Increase the resolution.
- B. Replace the HDMI cable.
- C. Power cycle the projector.
- D. Adjust the keystone

Answer: D

Explanation:

A distorted image where the screen is not symmetrical (wider at the top or bottom) is typically due to keystone distortion. Adjusting the projector's keystone settings corrects this trapezoidal effect caused by an angled projection.

NEW QUESTION # 97

A customer needs to install a new printer in their network. The customer reports that users had intermittent connectivity issues with previous printers. Which of the following should the technician configure on the new printer to prevent this issue?

- A. DHCP IP address
- B. Public IP address
- C. Static IP address
- D. Gateway IP address

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Intermittent connectivity issues with network printers are commonly caused by changing IP addresses when using DHCP. Assigning a static IP address ensures that the printer is always reachable at the same IP address by client machines.
